SKIN CANCER.
Several years ago I was called to see a colored woman who had a malignant form of cancer on her foot. The cancer grew worse under the prescribed treatment, and the toes and one side of the foot were at length eaten entirely away. The patient could not have survived much longer, but I commenced the use of Swift's Specific, and it cured her sound well. That was three years ago, and there has been no return of the disease. I regard Swift's Specific a most excellent medicine for blood diseases, as its tendency is to drive out the poison.

NEW YORK IS UNFAIR.

Trying to Defeat the Chicago Exposition in the Senate.

WASHINGTON WANTS A SHOW

Senator Stanford Makes an Argument for the Blair Bill.

CALL-CHANDLER GHOST QUARREL

The Florida Statesman Calls His Enemy a Coward and Is Rebuked by Sherman—The Upper Columbia Rapids.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—[OREGONIAN Office, corner Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue.] It is claimed to-night that New York is making an effort to defeat Chicago for the world's fair in the senate. They claim that Chicago has won but half a victory. If with the Southerners who do not want a fair the New Yorkers succeed in defeating Chicago, the bill will no doubt be killed, as the house decision is practically irrevocable.

The national board of promotion of Washington adopted a resolution to-night that while they favor the world's fair in Chicago, which has been chosen by the representatives, they recommend the incorporation into the bill of a provision for an international celebration at Washington in 1892 in commemoration of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America and that the president appoint a government commission to formulate a plan for such celebration. The plan is to include enlargement of the national museum into a three-Americas museum, to remain as a memorial building and repository of antiquities and history of the Western hemisphere; a memorial bridge across the Potomac, and a statue of Christopher Columbus. Participation of all the nations of the world will be invited.

Martin Maginnis, of Montana, felt quite elated to-day over the decision in the district court in favor of the democratic candidate for sheriff of Silver Bow county. He says it gives the stamp of justice to their claim. He will try and have the decision placed before the committee of the senate, in which case the republicans will be given an opportunity to reply. Representative Carter says that McHatton, who made the decision, was a candidate, and his election would have been affirmed by the same vote. Both claimants for judge resigned, and Governor Toole appointed McHatton. Colonel Sanders says that the decision cuts no figure, as there was a proceeding instituted to take the case before the United States court, and McHatton refused to entertain it. If the democrats begin to press this decision the colonel claims he will make a showing that this is only an incident and a part of the attempted steal.

The two bills for a bridge across the Columbia river rose in the senate to haunt the Oregon senators yesterday. Mitchell's bill comes first on the calendar. Senator Dolph explained that he thought his bill ought to pass, as it was for a new company, while Mitchell's bill was for a company that failed to build a bridge under a former act. Both senators agreed that they should be favorably reported, and it now is a case of which one must be killed. Upon the suggestion of Mitchell both bills were laid over.

Senator Mitchell to-day introduced a bill pensioning Caroline Baker Stevens of Oregon, at the rate of $50 per month. She is the widow of Col. Robert J. Stevens, late consul at Victoria, and a daughter of Col. Edward D. Baker. The latter was senator from Oregon at the opening of the war and left the senate to lead a regiment. He was killed at Ball's Bluff. Col. Baker distinguished himself by entering the senate chamber in uniform and spurs to reply to the speech of the rebel Benjamin during the early war movements.

Senator Allen, of Washington has introduced a bill appropriating $138,000 for the improvement of the Columbia river between the head of Rock Island rapids and the foot of Priest rapids. The appropriation is divided, giving $60,000 for Rock Island rapids, $4000 for Cabinet rapids, and $68,000 for Priest rapids. This will improve over fifty-nine miles of the river near Pasco and above that place, and open up 350 miles to navigation in the Big Bend country and the mining regions about the Okanogan.

Senator Mitchell of Oregon introduced a bill to-day to extend the provisions of the Mississippi bill to the states of Minnesota, Oregon, Kansas, Nebraska, Nevada, Colorado, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington. This bill grants 5 per cent. of the net proceeds of the sale of public lands to the state, and allows the state lands in lieu of what would be school lands if not included in Indian reservations.

Representative Wilson had an interview with Land Commissioner Groff to-day and was informed that a commission consisting of a pre-emption clerk and two law clerks of the land office had been appointed to remodel and shorten the questions in taking final proof. This will be a small saving to each settler, who pays for having the testimony written out.

The senate committee on agriculture and forestry to-day had under consideration the Faulkner pure food bill, which establishes a bureau in the agricultural department, with authority to inspect and analyze food and drugs, and power to seize and destroy articles deleterious to health. Several unimportant amendments were proposed, and the bill will be put into shape by a sub-committee for action at the next meeting.

Senator Reagan to-day introduced a bill to provide for a general system of reservoirs for irrigating the arid lands of the West.

CALIFORNIA IS PLEASED.

Comment of San Francisco Papers on the World's Fair Vote.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—In general California seems greatly pleased with the prospect of the world's fair being held at Chicago. New York or Washington, however, were favorites among a large class in the southern portion of this state. With the exception of the Chronicle, the newspapers here have favored Chicago, but this journal accepts the situation thus: "The Chronicle was at first disposed to favor New York on account of the pre-eminence of the metropolis in the eyes of foreign nations; but it must be admitted that the energy and push displayed by Chicago have been such as to commend that city to every admirer of those genuine American qualities."

The Examiner is happy, as it favored Chicago first.

The Alta reads a lesson from the choice, as showing what can be accomplished by grit, energy and united action.

The Call thinks New York threw the fair away by her shiftless manner of dealing with the question.

The Bulletin styles it "the triumph of the West."

The Post rejoices that the fair will be held in a genuine American city, and not in New York, which is a great overgrown Colossus given to the cultivation of blue-blood aristocracy.

NEW YORK PRESS ANGRY.

Discourteous Language Addressed to Congress and the People of Chicago.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—The World to-day severely criticises the action of the house of representatives yesterday in selecting Chicago as the place where the World's fair is to be held. Following are extracts from one editorial: "By its acts the House has decided that the fair, if held in 1892, shall be a provincial rather than an international affair. It will be an American show, nothing more, and if held in Chicago it will be a failure unless liberally aided by the general government." "The fanatics of New England clasped hands with the foolish, over-persuaded people of the South, who permitted their prejudices to follow their mercantile interests, and as a result the great enterprise is dwarfed and the pride of the nation will be checked." "'Pig-stickers,' 'lard-boilers,' 'bluffers,'" were what the victorious Chicagoans were called yesterday by the masses of the metropolis, at least that portion of the populace which blocked locomotion in Newspaper Row, when the result of the eighth ballot in Washington was made known.

To-day's Commercial Advertiser (dem.) says: "Not all of Chicago's hustlers or her hustling would have availed to wrest the prize from New York had no Tom Platt betrayed it."

The Mail and Express (rep.) has two editorials on New York's defeat. The first has the caption: "The Senate is the Hope of the Country," and says the house has rejected the proffered hospitality of the oldest city of the Union, and desires to teach the country that generosity, liberality, courtesy and patriotism are to be trifled with as baubles of thin air; are to be rejected with recklessness; are not virtues deserving recognition; are entirely unappreciated by the lower house of congress, and are despised by it and declined. In a second editorial it says local contentions lost the fair to New York.

The Evening Post, which has opposed the project of the world's fair, says the only ones to be really pitied are the winners of the world's fair. New York is spared a year of litigation over the Albany bill. The taxpayers have saved $10,000,000, and subscribers to the guarantee fund have saved $5,000,000, besides their share of the $10,000,000. New York has been saved an unmeasured amount of turmoil and racket and struggling to get up town and down town with means of travel already inefficient. If the fair were held in 1892 on the sight selected, more New Yorkers would go to Europe to avoid its attendant miseries than went to Paris last year to see the exposition.

IN THE SENATE.

The Substitute Silver Bill—Hostilities Between Call and Chandler Renewed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—In the senate a number of bills were reported and placed on the calendar, among them one to authorize the purchase of gold and silver bullion and the issue of treasury notes in payment. The bill directs the purchase of silver bullion to the amount of $4,500,000 per month and as much gold bullion as may be offered, and the issue therefor of treasury notes, and repeal of the law directing the coinage of 2,000,000 silver dollars per month. Beck said the report from the finance committee was not unanimous. He opposed it. Sherman and McPherson also said they opposed the bill.

In the debate on the resolution offered yesterday by Chandler, censuring Call for interpolating in the Record a paragraph that had not been spoken and that was unparliamentary and personally offensive, Call gave notice to Chandler that he would arraign him before the senate and demand an investigation by a committee for making a false accusation. He [Call] would convict the senator on evidence of his own that he did hear and know that he [Call] had uttered on the floor of the senate substantially the whole of the charge contained in the paragraph. He would not ask censure by the senate of Chandler, but would leave him to the judgment of the country for having heard his [Call's] remarks, and having had neither the courage nor the manhood to resent them.

Sherman declared the rules of the senate had just been violated by the senator from Florida in as gross a manner as he had ever witnessed. When the United States senate came to such a condition that cowardice could be applied to a senator and that a senator could be charged with stating a thing falsely, it seemed to him the senate was receding from its dignity.

Call replied that if he was not at liberty to state that the resolution was not true and that he could prove it, and that the senator, when he made the charge, knew it was not true, then he did not understand the rules of the senate. But if in the judgment of any senator, it was improper to use the language, he would withdraw it.

Chandler once more explained his resolution and added: "The Senator, (Call), used language about me which I did not hear. He wrote language in the Record, accusing me of all crimes in the decalogue, and he has now, this morning, charged me with being a coward for not replying to that which I did not hear, and which he afterwards wrote in the Record. When the senate has decided what language it is parliamentary to use, I will take occasion to defend myself from all imputations."

The Blair educational bill was taken up as unfinished business, and Coke addressed the senate in opposition to it. It clearly violated the constitution, and as a measure of policy it was most unwise and mischievous. It had constantly declined in public favor, until indications give good ground to hope for its defeat. The passage of the bill would be a slanderous imputation on every state in the Union. It would be a first and irrevocable step in the transfer of jurisdiction of the common schools from the states to the national government.

Stanford addressed the senate in advocacy of the bill. It seemed to him to proceed upon the right principle. He assumed its constitutionality, and the important fact to be considered was whether national legislation was necessary. Illiteracy was conceded, and also the fact that some states had not been able to meet the question. Federal aid had therefore become necessary. When education became universal the question of the races would be obliterated. It was intended that the bill should benefit both sexes alike. He hoped that under its provisions women would be educated in different callings of life suitable to their sex. From education grew morality and religion, in harmony with the sublime and always beneficent Creator. The result would be to make humanity better, wiser and happier. It was through education that possibilities were to be ascertained and obtained; therefore he was strongly in favor of the passage of the bill.

Reagan obtained the floor to speak against the bill, and the senate adjourned.

NOMINATIONS.

Harold M. Sewell, of Maine, consul-general at Apia. Consuls: Henry W. Andrews, of Ohio, at Hankow; John Fowler, of Massachusetts, at Ning Po; William B. McCreery, of Michigan, at Valparaiso; John Steel Twells, of Pennsylvania, at Naples.

In the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—In the house the committee on commerce called up and the house passed the bills extending to San Diego and Wilmington, Cal., the provisions of the act relative to immediate transportation of dutiable goods.

On motion of Butterworth the bill was passed authorizing the secretary of state to appoint two suitable persons to represent the United States at the international conference in reference to protection of industrial property at Madrid, Spain, April 1.

The house then, in committee of the whole, resumed consideration of the Oklahoma bill. Hooker moved to strike out the first section of the house bill, which is a substitute for the senate bill, fixing the boundaries so as to include the Cherokee outlet. After a long discussion Hooker's motion was defeated, and pending further action the house adjourned.

THE NOMINATION OF SEWALL.

Blaine Thought His Services in Samoa Deserved Recognition.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—This port being in direct communication with Samoa, the merchants here have taken great interest in the appointment of a consul-general to the Samoan islands, and they are pleased at the announcement to-day that Harold M. Sewall has been appointed. Sewall is a democrat and was first appointed to the Apia consul generalship by President Cleveland to succeed Berthold Greenebaum, of this city, whose display of spirit in dealing with the Germans did not please Secretary Bayard. Sewall soon showed he had even more grit than Greenebaum, and while the Samoa trouble was at its hight he was recalled by Bayard. It was generally understood after the Berlin conference that Sewall would be sent back to Apia after the senate had taken action on the treaty.

It is understood that his warmest supporter and admirer was Secretary Blaine, who recognized the value of his services to the country and promised him he should have the place if his influence could procure it. The republicans, in deference to Blaine's wishes and Sewall's services, will probably waive party considerations and confirm him.

A Carnegie Banquet in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—A dinner was given to-night in the Arlington hotel by Andrew Carnegie to the president and cabinet and the delegates and officers of the International American conference. It was undoubtedly the most elegant affair of the kind ever given in this city. The floral decorations were novel and unique, among them being orchids, tulips and crocuses, there being thousands of blossoms collected in New Orleans, Mobile, Savannah and other Southern cities, as well as in the greenhouses of Philadelphia, New York and Boston. The menu was engraved in fine script, upon heavy bevelled blocks of papier mache, and every article of food was described in plain English. There were no formal speeches.

NEWS OF TWO STATES

Interview With Scott, the Alleged Yamhill Wife-Murderer.

FOUR SEATTLE TENTS BURNED

Clarke County Courthouse, at Vancouver, Destroyed by Fire.

THE PLOT AGAINST SEATTLE'S ROAD

Inexplicable Suicide of a Woman at Walla Walla—Trains Blockaded East of the Cascades—Stock Losses.

MCMINNVILLE, Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—William Scott, the Wheatland farmer who is now confined in the Yamhill county jail in this city charged with the grave crime of killing his wife of only four months past, was arraigned to-day before Justice Harding. He has retained as his counsel Messrs. James McCain, J. E. Magers and F. W. Fenton, the three best attorneys in Yamhill county, and everything that money or legal learning can do will be done to save his neck from the hangman's halter. The prosecution was represented by Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Harry Ballinger. The district attorney for this district is Hon. H. H. Hughitt, of Albany, who was not present, but will be on hand at the trial. Mr. McCain, of counsel for the defense, moved a continuance of the preliminary examination until 1 P. M. Monday, March 3, in order to afford the defense an opportunity to collect such evidence in his behalf as might be forthcoming. The prosecution making no objections, the continuance asked for was ordered by the court, and the prisoner was remanded to the care of the sheriff until that time.

Through the courtesy of Sheriff Harris an opportunity was found to interview the prisoner. The great box stove in the corridor of the jail was crowded with burning fuel, and seated in an arm chair, bending forward to catch the genial warmth, was the aged murderer. He is an old man, bent with the weight of his 66 years, but with a clear blue eye and a face showing hard and firm in every line. His dark brown hair is plentifully streaked with gray, and falls upon his coat behind. The top of his head is bald, though this is partly hidden by the way in which the hair is combed. The eyes are deep set, underneath heavy brows, the cheek bones are prominent and on each is a hectic flush, for he is a victim to that dread disease, consumption, and for the past ten years has been fighting the grim destroyer. The nose is sharp and aquiline and the lips are thin and tightly compressed, flanked by sallow, hollow cheeks, and surmounting a chin denoting great firmness and determination. He looked up quickly as the sheriff and correspondent entered, and came forward to meet them, shaking hands with the vigor of a much younger man. Neither guilt nor innocence could be detected in his face, nor were there any signs of sorrow, either present or past. He seemed disinclined to talk about the murder, and finally stated that his case was in the hands of his attorneys, from whom all further information must come. "They are good men," said he, "and I place my dependence in them and my trust in the Lord." The sheriff afterward stated that he had refused to talk about the crime even with members of his own family. When told that there was a general feeling of horror among his neighbors and all who had known him at the thought that he could have committed such a deed, and that many would be glad to know that his innocence could be proved, that he might again walk forth a free man, he replied: "Yes, and there are many others who think and act just the opposite. Being pressed to speak of his innocence, he said:

"I have nothing more to say than what I testified to before the coroner's jury. When I swore to that I swore to the truth and the whole truth."

Following is his testimony as reported by the coroner:

"I am the husband of deceased. We have been married four months. We have always lived together agreeably, as far as I know. I got up this morning about 7 o'clock. My wife was lying in the bed when I left the house. She had been sick through the night; toward morning she got a little easier. I kissed her and told her to lay in bed and rest while I went out to the barn to attend work. After I had been to the barn a short time I heard a shot. In about twenty minutes I heard a second shot. When I got to the house my wife was lying on the porch. She was moaning but unconscious. I stepped into the room and found the bed pillows on fire. I put the fire out and started for Mr. Martin's. As I came from the barn the dog was barking down toward the orchard. I glanced that way and I think I saw a man running down through the orchard. About the same time I saw my wife lying on the porch and did not notice the object in the orchard any further. I would not swear positively that there was a man running but I think so. I think the gun was lying on the bed when I came in, but I did not touch or move it. I think the mop stick was on the bed also. We have had no trouble about our business affairs. I do not think my wife had an enemy.

There was much other evidence from him in the way of cross-examination, but this the coroner declined to reveal, at the advice and request of the prosecuting attorney.

There is little doubt that the prisoner will stand a preliminary trial and not waive it, for the reason that, except so far as the circumstantial evidence has been made public through the columns of THE OREGONIAN, the defense is in ignorance of just what the prosecution is prepared to prove. A preliminary examination would give them an outline of this, at least, and the counsel for the defense appear to think this necessary for them to know. The prosecuting attorney will probably be aided in the conduct of the case by County Judge Loughary, who was a warm personal friend of the murdered woman and of her two sons. That a strong chain of circumstantial evidence has been forged there can be no doubt, and the only defense that can now be offered is that the cause of the murder is not yet known and the real murderer has escaped. Mr. McCain of counsel for the defense said:

I can only say now that many things which now appear so damning against my client can and will be explained away at the trial. We realize the seriousness of the case, but think that the general public sentiment which now pronounces the prisoner guilty does so because it believes that no one else had a motive or an opportunity to commit the crime. We hope to be able to prove the contrary.

SUICIDE OF A WOMAN.

Unable to Hide From Persecutors—Other Walla Walla Notes.

WALLA WALLA, Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—A week ago a letter was published in the Journal here, purporting to come from Earl McDonald, of Seattle, inquiring as to the whereabouts of his sister Nellie. On the evening of publication the girl was found at Mrs. J. H. Stahl's, where she had been making her home for a month. The girl claimed the letter could not possibly be from her brother, as both her brothers were dead. However, a letter announcing her discovery was deposited in the postoffice, according to the request of McDonald, the supposition being that he was in search of his sister and would call on her here in his quest. The girl was seemingly mystified at the turn of affairs and kept reiterating the belief that there was some scheme to annoy her or obtain possession of money about to come to her through the death of a relative. The matter seemed to prey on her mind constantly.

This morning, not appearing as usual, her room was visited, and she was found dead in bed. Under the pillow was a bottle of chloroform, while her hand held against her nose a handkerchief, evidently at one time saturated with the drug. No doubt the mysterious letter and anticipation of trouble preyed on her mind to a degree to cause her to take her life. The affair causes much comment, and all are anxiously awaiting the denouement naturally expected to follow.

Nellie McDonald is discovered to be the deserted wife of Tom Brown, a notorious character of the Northwest. The supposition is that she fathomed the full purport of the letter mentioned, and believed an attempt would be made to take her away by force or take money from her. It is rumored that Brown was seen here last night; that deceased had also seen him, and then purchased the drug.

This morning Van Smith, a well known compiler of directories, was found lying on the floor of his room in the Exchange hotel, dead from chronic alcoholism. He was well known in the Northwest. The funeral will be at the public expense.

Mrs. Susie Robertson, for a long time in charge of the domestic department of the Stine house, and well known to travelers, died unexpectedly at the hospital Monday.

The weather is intensely cold to-night, the coldest of the winter.

VANCOUVER COURTHOUSE BURNED.

Fire in Early Morning—Building and Court Records a Total Loss.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Feb. 25.—The courthouse of Clarke county was totally destroyed by fire early this morning. Flames were discovered about 12:45 A. M., in the southeastern part of the first story of the building, and spread with inconceivable rapidity, fanned by a strong northeast wind. Soon the whole south portion of the building was ablaze. So fast did the fire spread that there was barely time to save the five prisoners confined in the iron cells in the basement, three of them being carried out half suffocated. Credit for saving these lives is due to Mr. T. O'Neil, the night policeman, and young Mr. Fleming. Mr. Burnett, one of Sheriff Fleming's assistants, saved himself by jumping from a second-story window. He is badly bruised, though apparently not seriously.

The fire engine, which arrived late, was of little service, and in less than an hour the building, which was one of brick and stone, was in ruins. The cost of the building was $55,000, and it was insured for $25,000. The remaining walls of the north and south wings are cracked and in a dangerous condition. The superior and probate court records are totally destroyed. The auditor's and treasurer's records are uncertain as yet, being in the vaults, supposed to be fireproof. Judge Bloomfield lost his library, valued at $2500. The total loss will probably reach $100,000.

Everything seems to indicate that a defective flue passing through the room in which the court records are stored set fire to the building. Had the wind been in the opposite direction a large conflagration would have been certain. As it was the buildings next to the courthouse on the west side are a considerable distance from it, hence no further damage resulted.

This incident demonstrates that a hydrant system, even if procured at great expense, will be of incalculable benefit to the city of Vancouver.

BLAZING TENTS AT SEATTLE.

Four Canvasbacks Destroyed and Contents Greatly Damaged.

SEATTLE, Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—Two big fires occurred among the canvasbacks this morning, by which four tents were destroyed and their contents badly damaged. The first fire occurred at [illegible] o'clock on the roof of N. Baird's restaurant, on the east side of Twentieth street, near Spring. The restaurant was full of people eating breakfast at the time, when it was noticed that the roof of the tent was ablaze, and a general stampede followed. An alarm was turned in, but before the fire department arrived on the scene the fire had communicated to O. Hooper's barber shop and a mammoth two-story tent occupied by the Lake Union Furniture Manufacturing Company, on the east side of the restaurant. The fire was soon under control, but not before great loss had been sustained.

Following are the losses: N. Baird, $1200, insured in the Springfield Fire and Marine Company for $[illegible], and in the New Hampshire for $300; I. N. Hooper, $750, insured in the Springfield Fire and Marine for $400; Lake Union Furniture Company, $7000, insured in the Northwestern Insurance for $1000, Manchester Insurance Company, $1000, Home Insurance Company, Seattle, $500.

While the department was fighting the fire on Second street a fire was under way on Main street. The fire caught in the cleaning, dyeing and bath houses of G. Bromond. The fire was soon extinguished by several firemen. Loss, $1000; no insurance.

THE SEATTLE RAILROAD WINS.

Northern Pacific's Wrecking Suit to Be Tried in the Home Court.

SPOKANE FALLS, Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—The Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern fight has been taken out of the courts of Spokane Falls and transferred to Seattle. When the case of the application of stockholders of the railroad and construction companies for appointment of a receiver came up in Judge Blake's superior court this morning it was discovered that Judge Calkins and W. Lair Hill, attorneys for the plaintiff, had not arrived, but were on a delayed Northern Pacific train. They arrived later and the case was resumed in the afternoon. Judge Burke began proceedings by asking for a change of venue. The offices and officials of the railroad company, he said, are in Seattle, and the case ought to be heard there.

Mr. Hill opposed the motion. The Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern Construction Company, he said, have an officer in this city upon whom service has been had, and there are no legal grounds for a change of venue. After an inquiry by Judge Blake as to the discretionary powers of the court, Mr. Hill turned his attention to Judge Burke and astonished everybody in the courtroom by declaring: "I will agree with counsel that Seattle is the most convenient place for trial of this case. The officers of the company reside there. So do you and I, although I believe that I have been accused of being a non-resident. I will agree to a change of venue." Everybody smiled at this unexpected conclusion, and the change was of course granted.

The case will be fought out at Seattle, where Colonel Clough, of the Great Northern, is now watching the important struggle for possession of one of the keys to this country. It is understood that in the event of defeat of the receivership the Great Northern stands ready to purchase the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern, and push to a connection at Spokane Falls.

THE NEW SNOW BLOCKADE.

Union and Northern Pacific Trains Delayed East of the Cascades.

SPOKANE FALLS, Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—Instead of abating, the trouble with snow along the different lines of railroad running into the city seems to increase. The east-bound Northern Pacific, due at 12:40 last night, did not arrive here until this afternoon, having been obliged to fight its way through snow the entire distance from the mountains east. The west-bound train left Hope an hour and thirty minutes late this morning and lost time on the way down on account of snow. The Palouse train was scheduled three hours late, while all that could be heard of the train from Davenport was that she was stuck in the snow. All freight trains are scheduled as indefinitely late.

The Union Pacific is worse off than this, for the wires are down and they can hear nothing from their trains. All they can tell is that one is snowbound at Tekoa. The snow is light and the wind drifts it in as fast as it can be plowed out of the cuts along the lines, so that it is almost impossible to keep them open, even where they have been kept open before during the winter. The Union Pacific has not had a train in or out since Thursday last.

Trains on the Spokane Falls & Northern, which have not missed a trip or suffered a delay on account of storms during the winter, are arriving and departing on time.

Opening of a Spokane Club.

SPOKANE FALLS, Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—A new club was opened last night called "The Spokane." Twenty of the wealthiest men in the city subscribed $10,000 as a starter, and the club already has a membership of eighty. The Lamona block, next to the new hotel, has been secured for the present and fitted up with all the modern comforts of club life. The cuisine is presided over by a chef sent from Chicago by H. V. Hemis of the famous Hotel Richelieu. The new club is more metropolitan in decorations than any one on the Pacific coast north of San Francisco. A. A. THE MARINE'S AFRAID.

Jack Dempsey Shakes His Fist in La Blanche's Face.

BEGGING HIM TO MAKE A MATCH

Jake Kilrain Denies That He Is a Wreck—Mike Kelley Refuses a Bribe of $15,000 to Desert the Brotherhood.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—There was quite a lively scene at the California Athletic Club last night when the directors attempted to match Jack Dempsey and George La Blanche.

Both men were present, and President Fulda asked them if they would fight. "I am willing," said Dempsey, with a smile.

La Blanche turned quite pale, and replied, "I decline."

Dempsey—Why, you said you would fight the winner of the McCarthy-Dempsey contest, and I should think you would be ashamed to decline after your rash promises. What are your objections to fighting me?

La Blanche—I can afford to do without fighting now. Things are coming pretty easy with me.

President Fulda—Would any purse tempt you?

La Blanche—Not at present.

Dempsey, rising in his seat in anger, replied: "What is at present, La Blanche? Are you afraid of me? Why don't you fight? Confess that you are afraid!"

"Oh, no," said La Blanche.

"Well," replied Dempsey, "you are afraid, and I'll bet you $1000 in coin that you are. You won a battle from me on a fluke, and you know it, and you are afraid to fight me and you know it way down in your heart. I'd be ashamed to show my face if I were you after all the roasting you have had from the papers and people."

La Blanche sat still, gazing up at the ceiling, while the Nonpareil was talking, scores of men present looking at him in amazement, until Director Fish called Dempsey to order and he apologized. La Blanche was offered his own time and his own figures, and a telegram from New York offering him $1000 to make a match was read, but the Marine still declined to fight, and Dempsey was asked to make good his promise to contest with Young Mitchell in April.

Dempsey showed an unwillingness to fight his young pupil, declining to give an answer as to what he would do until four days after his return from Portland, two weeks hence. Though Dempsey and Mitchell partly agreed that they would fight in May for $3000, Dempsey asked for a bigger purse, but said that he would not meet Mitchell until he was quite sure La Blanche would not fight him.

"In two weeks," said Dempsey harshly, "what I have said to La Blanche to-night will have had its effect. It will have been slung at him everywhere, and he'll change his mind."

Kilrain as Boastful as Ever.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 25.—Kilrain has written to the Sun to say that he goes to Hot Springs not because of rheumatism or any serious illness, but to make money. He was sick when he met Corbett, who hit him in the eye with his elbow, and would not give him a match afterward.

SEATTLE, Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—A six-day, eight hours each day, go-as-you-please foot race started this afternoon in the city and drew a large crowd of spectators. Pedestrians of note participate, and great interest is manifested in the result. Following is the score at the end of the first day's race, ending at 11 P. M. to-night: J. J. Taylor, 51 miles 12 laps; William Stokes, 51 miles 8 laps; Daniel McLeod, 51 miles no laps; S. A. Morgan, 44 miles 8 laps; Ogarry, 27 miles 12 laps; Unknown, 20 miles 4 laps.

BLIZZARD IN THE SIERRAS.

Truckee People Living Under the Snow—Trains Running, but Delayed.

TRUCKEE, Cal., Feb. 25.—A regular Eastern blizzard has been blowing in the Sierras during the last twenty-four hours. At Essex people left their houses, fearing they would blow over. Considerable snow has fallen, but it can hardly be told from the drifting masses which constantly fill the air. The snow completely covers many houses in Truckee, and tunnels have to be run to windows and doors. The storm is still raging and the barometer going down. Train No. 3 arrived at 8 o'clock to-night, nearly twelve hours late.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 25.—In the mountains along the line of the Central Pacific there was some snow last night, but not as much as was supposed by many who judged by signs as seen in the valley. No snow fell at Truckee, but the wind blew a gale all night. At Cisco it was snowing this morning, and up to 7 o'clock four inches had fallen. The fall at Emigrant Gap was one inch more. Four inches fell during the night at Blue Canyon, and three inches at Gold Run. From and including Colfax there was rainfall down to Lincoln. The outlook on the hill promised a big storm, and Superintendent Wright left last night for the snow belt. "All the trains are running," said Chief Train Dispatcher Jones to-day, "but slowly. Should the snow fall assume formidable proportions, as it may, the trains will be held at convenient points while plows are put to work."

Superintendent Wright came through with a passenger train and will remain until the storm is over. The new rotary has been repaired and is ready for action. Superintendent Wright reports the heaviest snow east of Truckee ever known for twenty years. Snow plows are running between Truckee and Reno. On Essex-Flat and between Truckee and Union Mills the cuts drift level full between the trips of the snow plows. Many families in Truckee are running out of wood, and none can be obtained until roads are broken.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—The amount of snow still in the mountains off the line of the Central Pacific is without precedent. At the Westville mine, near Forest Hill, there is twenty-one feet on a level. It is doubtful if the worst features of the great storms of the last six weeks have been told, and it is probable many a tale of suffering and death lies buried in the bosom of the snow. Two or three weeks ago John Dywer left his little home at Coronado Hill to look for work. He was a blacksmith. His intention was to take a side trail to the Hog's Back mine, but the snow had buried every trace by which he might keep his reckoning. He wandered past the point where he should have turned off the main trail, lost his way and perished. A searching party has just discovered the dead body of Dwyer lying on its back, as if the man had fallen back through exhaustion and found himself compelled to lie there and freeze to death. He leaves four orphan children.

CALICO, Cal., Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—The 3-year-old son of W. H. Whitton, proprietor of the boarding house five miles east of here, wandered into the mountains and became lost. A searching party was organized, and continued the search until sunrise this morning, when he was found on the summit of a precipitous mountain three miles from home. The night was very cold, and the child was stupefied when found, but otherwise apparently unharmed.

VIRGINIA, Nev., Feb. 25.—The most violent wind and snow storm ever known in that vicinity has been raging on Lake Tahoe for the past forty-eight hours, and up to the present hour shows no signs of abating. At present it cannot be learned that the storm has done any serious damage to the wharves or buildings about the lake. The waves have been breaking over the wharves at Glenbrook at a furious rate, but so far they have stood the storm. Fortunately the mill company's steamer and all small boats had been placed beyond the reach of the waves before the storm set in.

STORMS IN THE SOUTH.

Houses Blown Down and Trees Uprooted in Tennessee—Damage in Texas.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 25.—The storm here last night nearly reached the proportions of a cyclone. The new cotton compress near the depot, a brick mill and the Northern Methodist church were completely wrecked, and many houses damaged. Trees were uprooted and tossed about like straws. In the business portion of the city not much damage was done beyond tearing down signs and breaking windows. A severe wind and rain storm visited Memphis again this morning, but beyond general prostration of wires no serious damage was done. At Brownsville half the business portion of the town was badly wrecked and many residences damaged. So far no fatalities are reported, but lack of wires makes communication difficult.

NASHVILLE, Feb. 25.—Last night's storm did considerable damage in this section of the state, but not in the immediate vicinity of Nashville. The Cumberland river and all the streams are rising rapidly. Several houses were unroofed in neighboring towns, but no fatalities are reported.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 25.—The storm of Monday night worked great destruction to the telegraph service, and not a word of direct communication can be had with the South. Until 11 o'clock to-night all connection with the Southern states was cut off, but at that time the Western Union succeeded in getting a wire to Chattanooga. It is impossible to ascertain anything about the damage done to either wires, houses or people, or even to find out the area covered by the storm.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 25.—A special says: A terrible hurricane swept over part of Northern Texas this morning. The Masonic hall in Gainesville was torn to pieces, the court house unroofed, the Santa Fe railroad depot wrecked and twenty buildings blown down. Nobody was killed, but several were injured.

SPRECKELS'S SUGAR-CORNER.

How the Courts Help Him to Squeeze the People.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—It was reported in commercial circles to-day that Claus Spreckels had refused to sell sugar to L. Saroni & Co., candy-makers, because the latter formerly patronized the American Sugar Refinery, which was recently closed down. Saroni when seen stated that the California refinery had refused to sell to him, but had assigned no reason therefor, though his credit was good. In order to keep his employes at work he had been purchasing sugar through brokers, often paying as much as two and one-half cents more per pound on this account.

At a meeting to-day of the directors of the Retail Grocers' Protective Union, resolutions were adopted stating that "whereas, some 500 men have been thrown out of employment by closing a refinery; and whereas there exists a scarcity in the sugar market, the California refinery being either unable or unwilling to supply the demands, the directors protest against the closing of the American refinery by the superior court as unnecessary for the furtherance of justice or the legitimate purposes of law. They ask that the refinery be reopened for business.

CALIFORNIA NEWS ITEMS.

The Trial of Mrs. Terry.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—Sarah Althea Terry is still on trial in the United States district court on a charge of contempt for the scene created in the court room during the reading of the decision of Justice Field in September, 1888. Little public interest has been manifested. The pistol found in Mrs. Terry's satchel at the time of her arrest was produced in court to-day. When the pistol was shown by the deputy marshal Mrs. Terry rose and said: "That man (meaning Marshal Franks) killed my husband." She started to repeat the statement, but was induced by counsel to take her seat. The hearing is nearly concluded.

Indian Chief Arrested for Child Murder.

FRESNO, Feb. 25.—Constable Hill, of Sanger, arrived to-day with Little Dick, chief of the Mill creek Indians, who is charged with the murder of his youngest son, Cleveland, aged 4 years. The Indians of the band, who inhabit the hills forty miles from Sanger, had taken a great fancy to Cleveland, and had expressed a desire to have him succeed Little Dick as chief of the tribe instead of the latter's eldest son, who is entitled to the succession by the laws of the tribe. Little Dick, it is alleged, poisoned the child in order that the title of chief might descend to his oldest son.

RESURRECTION OF THE DEAD.

Three Prominent Louisville Doctors Rob Graves and Are Captured.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 25.—The city is agog on account of the attempt of three prominent local physicians of this city to rob the graves of Tom Johnson and Ed Pearce, buried at New Albany cemetery Saturday. The men were to commit the deed early this morning, but the officers got wind of it and were in waiting. Drs. T. Blackburn and W. F. Grant were arrested and placed in jail. The third doctor fled and his identity is not known.

The negro who drove the wagon was shot dead as he started to run. A second colored man who went along to help the ghouls was also arrested. Medical students from this city are said to have robbed the same cemetery repeatedly. The offense is a felony in Kentucky.

Drs. Grant and Blackburn, who were captured, are prominent in medical circles and occupy high positions in the Kentucky School of Medicine. The grand jury this afternoon indicted them on charges of grave robbery and conspiring to commit a felony.

The penalties for these charges range from three to fourteen years' imprisonment. The college faculty have engaged counsel to defend the doctors. The state will make a special effort to convict. The negro boy killed in the fight was buried to-day by the college.

THROWN OUT INTO THE RAIN.

Inhuman Evictions of Wretched Ironworkers' Families Near Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 25.—The eviction of tenants on the land-bankrupt Graff-Bennett Iron Works was pushed on to-day in a driving rain, and rivaled the scenes so often fabled from Ireland. Every door of the twenty-five in "Little Limerick" was barred, but that of Mrs. Lynch, the first pushed open and she, with seven small children, were dumped on the wet ground with their ruined household effects. Most of the families were ejected, and no serious trouble occurred, but there were ominous growls from the gathering crowd.

CABLE NOTES.

Salisbury Parnell's Partner in Crime.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Cobb, radical, gave notice in the commons to-day that if Smith's motion asking the house to adopt the report of the Parnell commission, with Lewis's amendment censuring the Parnellites, were carried, he would move a resolution declaring that the house deplores that it appears that at the time the Parnellites were engaged in alleged treasonable conspiracies, many members of the government, especially Salisbury and Balfour, were in close alliance and treaty with those members, and therefore Salisbury and other members of the government deserve the severest condemnation.

The New York "World" Defeats Dudley.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Judge Patterson in the supreme court to-day denied the application of Colonel Dudley to vacate the order for his examination before trial in the suit brought by him against the Press Publishing Company to recover $10,000 for alleged libel in publication of the "blocks of five" letter. Dudley's counsel claimed he had been in the state since the order was granted, but the judge held that Dudley had avoided service of the order and cannot expect consideration from the court when he refuses to submit himself to its jurisdiction.

A WALL OF MAD WATER

Rushed Down Hassayampa Canyon in the Night.

TORN CORPSES STREW ITS PATH

Loss of Life Perhaps a Hundred—Resistless Impetus and Deafening Roar of the Tall Black Wave.

PRESCOTT, A. T., Feb. 25.—The failure of a messenger to arrive yesterday with further particulars of the great disaster on Hassayampa had a tendency to engender a feeling of hope in the hearts of many that the news was exaggerated and that the horrible catastrophe was not as bad as at first briefly reported. Such hopes were, however, dispelled last night, when J. J. Williams, a mining superintendent, accompanied by his brother, Ben Williams, of Bisbee, and Professor James Douglass, a mining expert and capitalist, arrived from Copper Basin and related a brief story told them by two prospectors direct from the Walnut Grove dam. Not only was all hope dispelled, but their story went to show that half had not been told and that the awful disaster was greater than had been imagined. It was not until after the arrival of the above named gentlemen, after dark, that any definite news was learned of the fate of the big storage dam, strong hopes still existing that it had not been washed out. E. H. Beggs, a stage agent, who took Sheriff O'Neill and Dr. Miller to the scene of the disaster, returned and reported that a messenger with full particulars was sent by Sheriff O'Neill and was due. It was a quarter of 12 o'clock at night, however, before the messenger arrived, giving a list of the lost, as far as known, and a partial list of the survivors.

Sheriff O'Neill writes that the country along the Hassayampa below the sites of the dams presents a scene of desolation. A tornado could not have made such a complete wreck. For miles the waters, turned free by the breaking of the dam, have filled the bed of the creek with bodies and with enormous boulders, trees, cactus and every other kind of debris.

THE SURVIVORS.

Among the survivors are Miss Mary Hanlon, niece of H. S. Van Buren, president of the Walnut Grove Water Storage Company; James Redington, hydraulic engineer; Paul Lansing, bookkeeper; Robert Brown, a merchant, and all his assistants, and Edmund Silsbee. H. S. Van Buren and daughter, with Lieutenant A. O. Brodie, superintendent, were in Phœnix, having left for there on the Tuesday preceding.

FIFTY OR SIXTY LOST.

Besides those here mentioned were some twelve or fifteen miners who were placer mining between the upper and lower dam, with a number of ranchers along the stream. All these are missing, and when all the casualties are ascertained the entire loss will probably be between fifty and sixty lives.

Many bodies were found twenty and thirty miles below the place where the flood overtook them. All the remains are more or less mutilated, while in several cases only fragments have been recovered. As the force of the flood was terrific, many bodies have doubtless been buried in the sand, others torn to pieces and others carried far south.

AN IRRESISTIBLE MONSTER.

The impetus of the stream of water when turned loose can hardly be appreciated without going over the ground covered by it. Those who saw it say that it came down in an almost perpendicular wall ninety or a hundred feet high and apparently crushed down instead of sweeping away everything before it. Immense boulders weighing tons were thrown around as a child might toss a ball. Enormous trees were broken in two sections or torn into shreds. Iron bars were broken and twisted out of shape, and a flatiron was picked up and carried five miles and then imbedded in the walls of the canyon eighty feet above the present level of the stream. A large safe belonging to Mr. Robert Brown, containing in the neighborhood of $7000, was swept away, and no trace has, after the most diligent search, been found of it. Whatever the water struck went down.

The flood struck the lower dam at 1:50 A. M. Five minutes later the headquarters, five miles below, were swept away. Several persons were at both points watching, but notwithstanding this the loss at the first point was over thirty men, and those who escaped did so with only what they had on their backs, many only in their night clothes.

Early on the evening of the 21st a courier was sent from the upper to the lower dam to warn the residents at the latter point that the former structure was in danger of breaking, but owing to the storm and darkness the messenger, William Akard, could not keep ahead of the flood, and lost his life in trying to cross the Hassayampa within view of the survivors of the camp he had tried to save.

ALL THE RANCHES SWEPT AWAY.

Charles Thompson, a courier, who arrived from below Wickenburg this afternoon, and who lost his ranch above the lower dam, reports that nine bodies have been discovered at Wickenburg and three above, in addition to those already discovered. The old historic Brill ranch, with all the other ranches along the river, have been entirely swept away.

STORIES TOLD BY SURVIVORS.

PHŒNIX, Ariz., Feb. 25.—News from the scene of the disaster comes in slowly. Full lists of the drowned are not known, and it will be several days yet before they are known, if ever. The company's camp, three miles below the lower dam, contained 125 people two weeks ago, and there were probably that many there at the time of the disaster. Besides these there were twelve families between the lower dam and Wickenburg.

Mr. Mills, courier, who arrived last evening, says he was awakened about 2 o'clock in the morning by the shrieks of people in the camp, and yelling to his partner, asleep in the same tent, he rushed for the high ground some fifty feet distant, up the steep bank of the canyon. The canyon there was about 240 feet wide. His partner stepped to grab his boots, and was in the water up to his armpits before he reached a place of safety. When he first saw the wave it was fifty feet high and gleamed in the darkness with millions of phosphorescent eyes. With a terrible roar it swept down upon the camp, carrying away tents, buildings and cottonwood trees with which the canyon was filled. By the lower dam was a building 240 feet long, set sixty feet above bedrock and thirty above the surface water. Every vestige of it was swept away, and no one would know that a dam had ever been in the vicinity, or that any life had ever been in the canyon.

A party of prospectors on the way to the dam were camped in Hassayampa canyon, four miles below Wickenburg, just above the narrows. One of these, O. Embody, of Los Angeles, who returned to-day, reports that they had feared the rise of the stream and meant to watch it, but had gone to sleep, when about 4 A. M. they were awakened by a terrific roar. Looking up they saw a wave thirty feet high approaching them. In its course trees two feet thick were being twisted and snapped like pipestems, and being dragged up by the roots. They sprang to the side of the canyon, fortunately near at hand, and saved their lives, but lost almost all their camp outfit. The roar of the stream was deafening, as it surged past, and the sight was grand. Just below the canyon contracts to one-fourth its width, and runs between perpendicular walls, several hundred feet high. The waters leaped up and piled themselves up on top of one another a hundred feet high, and then rushed through the narrow gorge with an awful roar, stripping it bare of everything moveable, and leaving only the bedrock for a mile or more.

Mills left the works at noon and walked seventeen miles to Brill's ranch, opposite Wickenburg, whence he came by horse to Phœnix. It was at the lower dam that the principal loss of life occurred.

BRIGANDS AND BOMBS IN CUBA.

The Mountains Full of Robbers—Anarchists Destroying the Cities.

HAVANA, Feb. 25.—Since the death of Captain General Salamanca, brigands have been increasing in number and audacity. They are swarming in the country around Puerto Principe. They have seized two wealthy men of that city and carried them off to the mountains, where they hold them for ransom. Similar cases have occurred in other parts of the island. The victims, having no hope of succor from the local authorities, yield to the demands of the robbers.

An attempt was made to blow up a cigar factory in this city last night with a dynamite bomb, which was exploded close to the walls of the main building. The adjacent houses were badly wrecked, but the factory was not seriously damaged.

Hardly had the people recovered from their fright when a tremendous explosion took place this morning in the Batabano railway station, on the Plaza de Sarmas. This, although powder was used, was terribly effective. The station was totally destroyed. Traffic was active at the time, and the building was thronged with employes and passengers. Thirty injured have been taken from the ruins, some of whom may die and others are missing.

On top of this disaster, news comes from Cardenas that the warehouses of Henr. Izurieta have been destroyed by fire. The losses are estimated at $200,000.

There is great excitement and alarm in Havana over the events, coming at a time when the government is without a head. The authorities are paralyzed.

INTERESTING NEWS.

Anacortes Rapidly Coming to the Front as a Flourishing and Populous Center.

ANACORTES, Wash., Feb. 20.—[Special Correspondence.]—Arrangements have been made by the Anacortes Improvement Company for the construction of a water supply system for the city. Mr. William Gray has just sold the company a corner of his property, situated one mile and a half from the city, for a reservoir site. The piping has been purchased and the Chicago water works expert has drawn plans for the system. The reservoir will be about 250 feet above the city and will be supplied from never-failing springs. Work will commence to-morrow, and it is expected to have water in the city in six weeks or possibly earlier.

TELEGRAPH LINE.

Mr. Valentine Hall, of Seattle, is in the city for the purpose of establishing a telegraph line between Anacortes and Avon, to connect with the main line. This gentleman is busily engaged contracting for poles. The wire has been already ordered. This adds another to the list of vast improvements under way in this busy town.

FIRST FUNERAL.

The first funeral in Anacortes took place to-day and was largely attended by the leading citizens. The deceased was John W. Griffith, who died of typoid-pneumonia. He was a member of the G. A. R., Topeka lodge, Kansas, and owned considerable property here.

LOOKING FOR INVESTMENTS.

Quite a concourse of people were to be seen all day inspecting property and calling at real estate offices for the purpose of investing in real estate. It is not exaggerating to say that the boom of Anacortes is more solid and greater than any yet known, San Diego, Los Angeles, Pasadena, in California, and Winnipeg, in Manitoba, Canada, included.

INVESTED HEAVILY.

David Wilson, of Tacoma, has been a large purchaser of real estate, having invested over $150,000, paying cash in full. He is building largely in every direction, many of the contracts I forwarded you in my last letter having been entered into by this gentleman. I am given to understand that General I. I. Stephens made the first triangulation and survey of Puget sound, and predicted that at this point, Anacortes, the future great commercial city on Puget sound, would be located. Jay Cooke and Henry Villard both endorsed this view and made plans looking toward a railroad terminating here.

NOTES.

The annual interest on the indebtedness of Jackson county amounts to from $8000 to $9000. This great sum says the Ashland Tidings is annually drawn from the taxpayers of that county to pay for past mismanagement of county officers

The upper bridge in Josephine county on the Applegate river cost $2620 the lower bridge $3330 the Rogue river bridge $9850 making a total of the three bridges of $15 800 The bridge across Deer creek originally cost $1000 It will take at least $20 000 if no more to place the roads in as good a condition as they were before the flood

State Superintendent Hon E B McElroy, has appointed a committee of five consisting of Prof J B Horner of Roseburg Prof Frank Rigler, of Oregon City Miss Ella C Sabin city superintendent of Portland schools Prof D W Jarvis of Athena City, and Superintendent C H Whitney of Baker county to secure attendance from Oregon to the National Educational Association which convenes in the city of St Paul Minn July 8th

Many statements have been made to the effect, says the Rogue River Courier that the recent high waters in this county have exceeded all other freshets and floods as far back as the knowledge of the white man has been able to substantiate But with the exception of the Applegate river the other streams have not reached the old infallible high water marks of 1862 Mr Crow of Galice creek who has been in this county prior to that date thought that Rogue river had finally secured a victory over her marks in that memorable year but after the recent water went down he found it fell short about five feet of the 1862 flood

The Southern Oregon paper published at Grant's Pass says Josephine county will have to pay into the state treasury $5366 61 This is a dead drain upon the circulating medium of the county as none of the state disbursements reach this far off region, except an occasional small sum paid to the sheriff for taking prisoners to the penitentiary at Salem The fact that the state tax is a constant and heavy drain upon the industry of Josephine county, creates a strong equity for an occasional appropriation to aid it in making roads through its unsettled mountains to assist in giving us more people

WASHINGTONIANA.

There is much complaint concerning the condition of the roads in Garfield county A large number of public highways are almost impassable

The college at Palouse was closed a few days ago on account of the prevalence in the city of scarlet fever and mumps Only a few students are afflicted with either, but the action was taken as a precautionary measure

The prospects are favorable for the early opening to settlement of the Colville Indian reservation, which embraces some 2 800 000 acres It is not only valuable on account of its agricultural and timber lands but it abounds in vast deposits of mineral

Mr and Mrs Frederickson who have been residing near South Bend, have been missing from their home for about two weeks As no one in the vicinity knows of their going on a visit there is a supposition of foul play Neighbors have investigated the premises, and there are no indications that Mr and Mrs Frederickson have been at home for many days Their boat was found in the bay right side up They have about $400 on deposit with a merchant at South Bend and some other property An investigation of the premises will no doubt be made by the authorities very soon

F Edwards the lumber and mill man of Semiahmoo has a law suit pending in the superior court at Whatcom and thereby hangs a tale He was at Puget sound and his wife hearing from Mr Edwards that he was coming home with a sloop did not keep a boat on the island (Mr Edwards resides on and owns Matia island) as is customary when the head of the family has to go abroad Mr Edwards failed to secure his sloop and hired a boatman to take him to his island kingdom When he landed he discharged his boatman and lo and behold —there was not a boat on Matia and the law suit was coming on The result was that he built him a raft and went over the strongest tide rips in the sound to the Sucias where he procured a boat and came to Whatcom The old fishermen say they would not have taken the trip for $1 000 000

CRUSHED TO DEATH

A shocking accident, which brought to a sudden end the life of John Lauterbach an employe of A Young & Co's brewery occurred at Vancouver Wash, at 4 o clock yesterday afternoon While engaged in unloading a large iron boiler it rolled over against him and crushed him under its immense weight Death resulted almost instantly Lauterbach is an old resident of Vancouver having resided there for the past twenty years

The Saltmarsh Tragedy.

Eugene Guard.

The principal [illegible] Saltmarsh tragic occurrence we [illegible] gone December 19 1889 They went at once to [illegible] and for a short time lived happily it is said About the [illegible] January Mrs Saltmarsh in company with a young man by the name of Mark [illegible] Long came to Eugene and took rooms at the Minnesota hotel claiming to be half brother and sister The suspicions of the proprietor Mr Johnson were aroused by their action and they were [illegible] to leave the house They then took quarters at a private residence, claiming the relations of husband and wife This state of affairs lasted several days, until the blockade on the railroad was raised, when Mr Saltmarsh came up on the first train. Long skipped out and Mr and Mrs Saltmarsh, accompanied by the wife's mother, went back to [illegible], having stopped in Eugene several weeks during the winter and played a clarionet in a string band. Three days before the marriage of Mr and Mrs Saltmarsh upon urgent and imperative solicitations Long went to Salem and married a girl whom it is said he had betrayed, then came back and attended the wedding of Mr and Mrs Saltmarsh. His responsibility for the unfortunate tragedy is certainly a heavy one

The benefits of the season's heavy storms said W H Mills land agent of the Southern Pacific Company will be felt for years The storms have been a godsend to the state The state needs water, and the scarcity of it during the past three or four years was beginning to cause a loss of faith in California on the part of many Springs had gone dry in many places and in other localities it had been found necessary to deepen wells to obtain the water which once was plenty

The rainfall of this year will insure bountiful harvests for two or three years to come As for this year I look forward to it as a bonanza one for the agricultural interests of California The temporary stagnation of trade which has occurred amounts to nothing When the roads open up business will be rushing

YESTERDAY'S MINOR NEWS.

Connection Made to San Francisco With Two Transfers.

Eastern Oregon Weather—Freight Yard Collision—German Colony Coming—Improvements in Building.

ANOTHER COLONY FOR OREGON —"There is a colony of forty German families in Southern Dakota who are making preparations to pack up ... to find homes in Oregon," said ... president to ... the Immigration Board to a reporter ... They have sent four representatives ... yesterday ... as they all desire to ... to look up a location, as they all desire to ... in the same place. These men, who ... in the capacity of advance guards are ... in the ... impressed with the country and ... probability is that they will decide upon some ... in the Willamette valley. The location will ... selected soon, as the colony is anxious to ... here in time to put in the ... crops. They have had nothing ... poor harvests during the past four years, and ... are getting very tired of their present lots ... there is a place Providence smiles on with more ... they are determined to find it, and there ... they will find in Oregon the ... question but they will find in Oregon the ... land. The efforts of the board to advertise ... the state are bearing fruit, as the eyes of all ... dissatisfied farmers in the East are turned toward Oregon. We are about to send 40 000 pamphlets ... in addition to the 25 000 already sent."

AN ELEGANT INSTRUMENT.—Mr. B. S. Pague ... signal service observer at this station, has just received ... machine called the triple register, ... which accurately records the rainfall, velocity and direction of the wind. The instrument is the ... made and will prove very beneficial. Every ... minutes a record is made of the direction of the wind and every 500th part of an inch of rain ... shown. The observer was busy all day setting the machine in such order that it can be operated. Inventions of this class are now so plentiful and so nearly perfect that all kinds of ... can be turned out by them without any ... notice. Temperature amount of sunshine, rain, velocity and direction of the wind ... density of the air ... moisture in the atmosphere ... can be recorded constantly without the touch of ... hand and kept for years intact for ...

STEAMER FANNIE STRANDED.—The steamer ... is having a hard time. She now occupies an ... position against the beach having been ... stranded on the sand just below the Northern Pacific ... The high northeast ... wind down the river ... the steamer out of her course ... before the pilot could again bring her under ... control of the rudder the boat was blown ... ashore. The steamer E. N. Cook was immediately ... to the scene to render assistance and most of the afternoon was spent yesterday in trying to ... the vessel into deep water, but to no avail. During the afternoon the steamer Isabel steamed down to do some sluicing and towards evening the Cook again went away, when a "pull all together" was to have been made to draw the ... from her sandy bed.

A LOCOMOTIVE IN TROUBLE.—One of the locomotives of the P & W V road was attached at ... yesterday, at the suit of a citizen of Sheridan who had a lot of cattle killed on the road ... some time since by a train going off a trestle ... Superintendent McGuire got the engine across the ... into Washington county and then looked for ... some officer of the company to give the necessary ... to enable him to keep his trains running. ... I. Koehler the newly appointed manager of the road, is very busy and had no time to attend to the matter, and the only executive officer of the company in the state, Vice President Reid, ... not inclined to take charge of the business. ... how Superintendent McGuire is going to get his locomotive through is not yet known.

"OUR HEROES" ON THE BATTLE FIELD.—Company ... benefit at the New Park theater promises to be a success. The boys are selling a good many tickets and the performance last night was an improvement on that of the first evening. The company is anxious to procure their new ... uniforms which the regiment at present is unable to purchase and they are deserving of great credit for their efforts in this undertaking. "Our Heroes" is a war drama and is calculated to arouse the patriotic sentiments of those who witness the performance. The full company adds much to the strength of the play and imparts to it a realism that would be lacking were only a few soldiers to participate. "Our Heroes" will be given to-night and the rest of the week.

ONLY LEFT-OVER MAIL.—Speaking of a communication which appeared in THE OREGONIAN in regard to sacks of mail matter in the basement of the postoffice, Chief Clerk Henry, of the railway mail service, says that the postoffice here has nothing to do with them and that there is no mail for Portland or for Oregon in them and no local mail of any kind. They are simply a lot of newspaper mail for Washington, which accumulated in the hands of the railway postal clerks during the time mails were interrupted and are being worked over and sent out as fast as possible. Mr Henry has had three extra men employed on this work, and has beside sent out sacks on trains, to be worked over. The letter mail was distributed as soon as it came in.

SMALL-POX IN ILLINOIS.—Dr James Brown secretary of the state board of medical examiners is in receipt of a letter from Secretary John H Rauch of the Illinois medical board, notifying him of the existence of three cases of small pox in this state. Two of the cases are at Anna, the ... it is thought, having been brought there by tramps. The other case is in the person of a negro at east St. Louis. It is customary for secretaries of the boards of medical examiners of the different states to notify each other of the existence of contagious diseases so that all possible precautions can be taken against a spread. It is really an admirable system and an important factor in the preservation of the public health.

HE WILL NOT BUILD.—A statement to the effect that Mr W S Ladd would build a number of houses on some of his extensive tracts in East Portland, in some manner got into print a few days since. It seemed so improbable a story that a reporter called on Mr Ladd yesterday to ascertain the facts in the case. He said he had heard nothing of any such scheme till he saw it mentioned in print. He had not thought of building any houses. He remarked however that he had contemplated putting up several buildings in this city this summer but would not do so if he had to pay $1 for 80 cents worth of work. "No eight hour work and ten hours pay for me" said Mr Ladd.

GROWING IN FAVOR.—A gentleman who has just returned from an extended visit East states that the electric roads are growing in favor in all the cities there. Pittsburg is going to tear up ... roads and replace them with electric roads, and St. Paul will do the same. In Boston one company has 120 miles of street railway all of which is to be operated by electricity. The person making these statements is not supposed to be in any way connected with any electric motor company, and is regarded as a truthful man, and ... one of Oregon's illustrious departed has "all ... voted the democratic ticket and been self supporting."

THE COLUMBIA'S WIND AND ICE.—Thin ice has been forming on the Columbia for the past two days, which together with the high cold winds ... navigation in some localities. The steamer Lurline returned from the Columbia early yesterday morning having been unable to reach the Cascades her intended destination. Ice was encountered all the way up the big river to Cottonwood point about twenty miles below the Cascades. Here ice became so thick that, together with a "young cyclone" that was blowing little or no headway could be made and the boat was compelled to retire to the harbor.

MR. HUNT'S PROPOSITION.—A prominent capitalist said yesterday that if the proposition of G ... Hunt is regard to extending his system of railroads to this city was upon examination found to be satisfactory there would be no trouble about getting the two millions of bonds subscribed. Four capitalists are ready to take one million of them. Messrs Clinton & McCoy offer ... Hunt will purchase their property adjoining the Brooklyn slough to take half a million of the purchase price in bonds and the other half in cash. This is a very liberal proposition in several respects.

WEATHER REPORT FROM THE U. P.—Weather ... the mountains is gradually getting colder. The day before yesterday the reports showed a copious ... of snow at many of the Eastern Oregon and Washington towns but present reports show the weather to be too cold for snow. At Umatilla the thermometer registers 6 degrees, Wallula 8 degrees below zero, Pomeroy 4, Riparia below ... 4 below, Pendleton 6, Baker City ..., Huntington 10, Dix ... 10, North Powder 10. The Willamette is very low being little more than two feet above low water mark.

NEW TOWNSITE.—Mr H M. Dumbleton of Victoria, B. C. came in over the Northern yesterday and goes south to-day. He is on his way to the place of his new townsite Winchester four and one-half miles north of Roseburg. The townsite is at the crossing of the Umpqua by the railroad, and includes about 600 acres of splendidly located land. The tremendous water power of the Umpqua is to be utilized for mills and strong hopes are entertained of a line of railroad from Winchester to the sea.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC.—Beginning this morning, J. B. Riddle will commence carrying passengers between Riddles and Glendale at $5 each, including fifty pounds of baggage. All over that amount is excess and his excess rate is not ... This will give an overland route to San Francisco as trains are running between Glendale and San Francisco, with only one transfer, at tunnel No 9. Sixty more laborers went south yesterday to the scene of the labors in Cow creek canyon.

ARRIVAL FROM ALSEA BAY.—The schooner Augusta arrived in the city yesterday and was moored at the foot of A street. The little schooner has been gone a little over four weeks having sailed hence with a cargo of general merchandise for Tillamook. She brings from Alsea ... on this trip 35 000 feet of cedar lumber and 700 cedar fence posts. Very pleasant weather was experienced, and but two days was consumed in the trip from the bay to Astoria.

SMALL FED BEEF.—The Armour Packing Company through Major E. G. Smith, has sold a car load of stall fed Nebraska beef to Zimmerman & Co. of this city. The beef market here must be ... when such transactions as this are ... the freight on the beef is $2 50 per cwt.

SLIGHT COLLISION.—Yesterday morning Northern Pacific yardmen while making up a freight train left two cars across the Union Pacific track, leading from the bridge to the passenger depot. The fast mail in backing across the bridge to get ready for leaving at 9 o'clock, ran into the freight cars, slightly damaging the Pullman car at the rear of the train. No one was hurt. It seems wonderful that such accidents are not of more frequent occurrence.

WILL BE FITTED UP.—The building at First and Yamhill just vacated by Honeyman & De Hart, is to be thoroughly overhauled and renovated and furnished with a handsome plain glass front, preparatory to being occupied by Messrs Forbes & Breeden. They intend to have fitted up the handsomest furniture show rooms on the coast.

ARTIFICIAL STONE.—At 11 30 this morning a test will be made at the old Presbyterian church at Third and Washington of an artificial manufacture of stone under the Mosher process. A large number of leading citizens will be present. The test will be very interesting as it includes the making of the stone and a trial of its strength.

VERY SORROWFUL TIDINGS.—Yesterday afternoon an elderly lady who had received a letter at the postoffice, after glancing through it cried out "my son has been crushed by the cars and killed" and immediately fainted on the stone floor. The numerous letters passing through the office bring sorrowful tidings to many.

ARE MUCH ENCOURAGED.—The committee who have been soliciting subscriptions to stock in the proposed chamber of commerce building are meeting with good success and feel very much encouraged. They have no doubt, from the liberal spirit displayed by our business men, that the scheme will be a success.

LATEST REPORT.—Mr T W Mellis is pleased to announce that he brought from San Francisco a fine line of millinery which is now ready for the ladies. For the dressmaking department he also got many new styles. An invitation is extended to the fair sex to call at No 30 Morrison street.

NEW QUARTERS.—County Superintendent of Schools Wetzell moved into his new rooms yesterday. He is making ample arrangements in the way of furniture for the accommodation of as many teachers as wish to be examined at one time for certificates.

MORE COTTAGES TO BE BUILT.—The Investment Building and Loan Company, 7 Stark st, is making arrangements for the erection of 200 cottages during the coming summer.

ORCHESTRAL UNION.—The second concert of the season will take place Friday evening March 7 at new Arion hall. Programme will appear in next Sunday's OREGONIAN.

CABLE LINE has lost the grip but we still sell shoes from the blockade at lower rates. C M. Wiberg, 101 First street.

THE RUSH for Kohn's yesterday was astonishing. $15 suits are selling for only $7 45 for this week only.

BIG MILLING PLANT

To Be Located on the Lower Sound, Probably on Whidby Island, at San de Fuca.

The representatives of a large Eastern saw milling and general wood working company, who have been looking about for a location on Puget sound, express a decided preference for San de Fuca, the new town on Whidby island. The immense log supply driven out of the Skagit river every season can most readily be rafted into the admirable bay at San de Fuca, and the sawn product shipped from that point to the markets of the world.

THE SHIP CANAL.

The Whidby Island (or San-de Fuca) ship canal project is not a new one. Its originator had the pioneer's usual hard lines however, being just twenty years too soon. Now that the big railroads are reaching out for deep water by the most direct cuts, the authorship of the San de Fuca canal might make any ordinary progenitor of progressive ideas proud.

STUBBORN FACTS

There is good foundation for the belief that the only reason that corn for stock feed was not grown in Eastern and Southern Oregon is that people have settled down to the idea that Oregon is not a corn country. It evolves nothing that experiment, on a more or less limited scale, has disproved this idea again and again in both sections [illegible] that Oregon is not a corn country [illegible] survey, and cattle men under [illegible] of circumstances, bring corn from [illegible] and Iowa to save their herds [illegible].

Sixteen carloads of [illegible] have just arrived in Walla Walla [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] where retail produce traffic [illegible] the volume of such trade. The butter of those times may or may not have been taken as alleged from sour churns by slatternly housewives. Whether it was sweet and clean when it was bartered for calico and coffee at the store or not matters little, as its subsequent treatment would have rendered it rank and unfit for use by the time it came to table. Ice was an unknown quantity in the summers of those days, and the butter left at the store until a load of "truck" accumulated had for company candles, soap, bacon, onions and such other malodorous staples as were kept in stock, and was finally bundled off to market in the wagon that took from one to three days in transit. It was not nice. The most enthusiastic proclaimer of Oregon products against the world has not the temerity to claim that it was, but he submits that, having outgrown pioneer conditions and acquired the facilities for making and marketing butter, there is no reason why the [illegible] may not be [illegible] from the Oregon article. There is no reason except the very common one that it is exceedingly difficult to substitute a good reputation for a bad one and to get an idea that has once taken possession of people out of their heads.

THE SITUATION IN IOWA

A meeting of republicans from thirty of the largest towns of Iowa was recently held at Des Moines. The object was to consider the political situation in that state as affected by the effort for prohibition. The secretary of the meeting has published a report of the proceedings, with comments thereon, from which we make this extract:

> A very interesting meeting occurred. Letters were submitted from hundreds of republicans who stand high in the party, indorsing a [illegible] to control the saloons in localities where the present law is ineffective, and statistics were presented showing the [illegible] effect upon the republican party of the present state-wide prohibitory policy. One of the most significant among other facts presented was that of the seventy-four counties in Iowa that gave the 30,000 majority for the prohibitory amendment, twenty-four of these counties, that gave 20,000 of said 30,000 majority, now have democratic members of the house of representatives, democratic senators (unless in case of hold over), and in nearly every case democratic judges and sheriffs. This is a most significant fact and cannot be successfully disputed. If the counties that gave two-thirds of the majority for the amendment now send men to the legislature to repeal the prohibitory law, elect democratic judges to interpret it and democratic sheriffs to enforce it, is it not patent that public sentiment has changed in the vast body of people voting this expression of 30,000 majority?

This certainly is quite conclusive. Since 1880 the republican majority of 78,000 has been wiped out, and no one doubts that the futile effort to enforce prohibition has done it. The State Register, published at Des Moines, a leader in the prohibition movement, makes the admission that the republicans have seen their party strength decline year after year since prohibition was taken up, and in their judgment the party will lose its majority entirely in a short time if it makes no change in its policy on the liquor question.

No doubt of it, no doubt whatever. Of course it may be said by prohibitionists in Iowa that it is a thing of small importance whether any party maintains its majority or not. But observe that with the defeat of the republican party in Iowa prohibition is overthrown; in fact prohibition overthrows both itself and the party that has been forced to accept it. The policy of the prohibitionists therefore sacrifices both their cause and their party.

Everything presses towards the assumption of a new position by the republicans of Iowa on the liquor question. They will be forced to the reasonable policy of favoring license in those localities which repudiate prohibition and in which experience has shown that prohibition cannot be enforced.

CURE OF THE INSANE

The report of the commission concerning the condition of the asylum for the insane published in THE OREGONIAN of Sunday last was an interesting document and its recommendations marked by good sense and good feeling. What is wanted in every state, however, to ensure proper treatment of the insane is the passage of a law like the New York statute, under which the medical and legal commissioners are required to make 132 visits annually to the various lunatic asylums, in addition to which the medical commissioner must make 22 such visits, and the whole commission or a majority thereof must make 106 visits. The first annual report of this new commission in lunacy concerning the condition of 15,000 lunatics that are the wards of the state of New York has just been issued. Among other recommendations this New York commission insists that the chief medical officer at each asylum should be authority to discharge any patient from further custody the moment he is satisfied that such patient has recovered and should not be required to wait for an order to that effect from a board of managers or from a county judge, or from any higher authority. We quote:

> The power to deprive a person of liberty by reason of insanity is given by the statute mainly for the purpose of securing to him an opportunity for proper treatment, and the instant a person [illegible] to be insane the state has no longer any right to keep him [illegible].

Puget Sound and [illegible] body of water in the world has been as rudely treated by the storm king during the past week as if it were of no more consequence than Lake Superior or Michigan or even than the Mediterranean sea. The ungallant wind has whipped the small craft that ply its waters into port and dared them to venture out, and tried severely the sea-going qualities of the heavier vessels that conduct its commerce. We have the assurance from Tacoma, however, which is of course sufficient proof of the correctness of the statement, that the rough weather on the Sound is almost "without precedent." That city is doubtless ready to pledge its honor that the like will never happen again, for is not rough water the exclusive portion of the [illegible] point known as the mouth of the Columbia?

A NEW SILVER PROJECT

It has been understood for some time that the senate finance committee was preparing a substitute for the Windom silver bill, and two or three rather obscure telegrams have undertaken to give its substance. It is to be hoped that these dispatches are inaccurate, since they credit the senate with the purpose to [illegible] legislation on some of the most [illegible]. It is said that the [illegible] bill will increase the maximum of monthly purchases of silver bullion to $4,000,000 [illegible]. Under the present law, the treasury [illegible] to buy bullion [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] treasury notes [illegible] redeemable in lawful money [illegible] gold, silver or greenbacks. Just what safeguards are to [illegible] does not appear, but upon its face it is a project for doubling the monthly issue of silver certificates [illegible] and of creating a financial currency. Notes which are redeemable in two kinds of coin of unequal value are [illegible] just as much as the cheapest and no more. The treasury notes issued under this proposed law will have just the value of the silver the government is authorized to redeem them in, since the holder must receive that wherever it suits the government to offer it. It has not yet been explained upon what basis the notes are to be issued against the bullion or in what ratio they are to be redeemed. If the notes are to be issued at the rate of one dollar for 25 8/10 grains of gold or 412½ grains of silver, as in all probability the case will be, they will be open to the same objection as the present silver certificates. Their real will be only three-fourths of their nominal value. Even if they are issued upon the market value of the bullion they will be open to the same objection, since they may be redeemed in standard dollars, and their real value is no more than that of the cheapest redemptive coin. It is impossible to discuss this measure with any understanding or knowledge, in advance of its full publication, but really it does seem less sound even than Windom's plan.

WHY NEW YORK DIDN'T GET IT

No great effort seems to have been made by the people of New York taken at large to secure the world's fair. Had New York exerted all her influence, put forth her whole strength, she could hardly have been beaten, backed as she naturally is by the favor of the South. But there was a wrangle among her own people, rather among her politicians. Men of either party feared that the other party would get an advantage through use of the patronage of the fair and would turn it into a political power. The business classes of the metropolis and the people at large took but slight interest in the matter. New York is so great a city that even so great a fair would be but a passing incident of its life. To Chicago, on the contrary, it will be a thing of vast importance.

New York did not get even the whole vote of the East, and one reason of it undoubtedly was the political one. In discussing the question the Springfield (Mass.) Republican said: "It must be patent to everybody by this time that a presidential year and $15,000,000 makes a bad combination for a pivotal state. The exhibition committee, whether controlled by the republicans or the democrats upon it, would be subjected to tremendous pressure from hungry contractors and gang men. If we invite the world to view our works and the foreigners come only to find political factions charging upon the treasury of the exhibition committee, the good name of Americans would suffer materially."

Illinois is not a doubtful state in politics nor a pivotal state in a presidential election; hence this objection could not lie against Chicago. No doubt this was a potent factor in deciding the contest.

Rev. Heber Newton of New York, a prominent clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal church, known widely for the rationalistic tendency of his discourses on theological subjects, contends against those persons who refuse to take a hopeful view of the future of the Roman Catholic church in America. He shows what every one must have noted, that the contact with American ideas tends strongly to liberalize and republicanize this great historic church, and yet of the remarkable encyclical letter recently issued by the pope he says: "There can be no doubt that it outlines a course full of peril for him who would be at once a loyal churchman and a loyal American. There can be no question that it maps out a line of action in political affairs on which it behooves the state to keep its eye, vigilantly determined to act always with a firm and unsparing hand when the need shall be. None the less we may well trust that wisdom will be given to those who lead this great church whereby they shall be not only churchmen but statesmen, men of the state as well as men of the church, Americans as well as Catholics. Macaulay pointed out that logically no Catholic in the time of Elizabeth could have been a loyal Englishman. None the less it was a Catholic admiral who headed the fleet which destroyed the great armada coming to convert England to Catholicism. The present danger is one against which we can best help Catholics, not by blindly denouncing them, but by warning them in tones of friendship, by making them feel that we are one with them in every effort to Americanize the church and to keep it patriotic, in every endeavor to hold the citizen above the mere dependent of the Italian court."

The bill of Senator Paddock, undertaking to amend the interstate commerce law, clearly grows out of the recent movement with which the governor of Nebraska was identified to secure lower transportation rates for the benefit of the depressed agricultural interest in that state. The bill proposes to empower the interstate board to suspend the long and short haul whenever they find its requirements tend unduly to increase the price of [illegible] in the great markets, or, what amounts to the same thing, unduly to depress the price paid for them to the producer. The theory of the bill is that the depression of the agricultural interest in the West can be partly relieved by reducing the rate of transportation of grain to Chicago and the East, that the railroads could afford to reduce these rates on through shipments if they could do so without reducing the local rates, as they would be compelled to do now, under the long and short haul clause, so that the suspension of that clause would enable the Western farmer to receive [illegible] price for his products. This [illegible] is gratifying to [illegible] in Nebraska [illegible] and grain [illegible] is transported by rail. The long and short haul clause is a defence for [illegible] the shipper. It [illegible] the railroads, but it does hurt [illegible] who sends goods over them or [illegible] goods sent over them, whether [illegible] or merchandise. The [illegible] the Nebraska [illegible] to understand [illegible] better for the whole country.

The first [illegible] grief and [illegible] President Harrison [illegible] a thorough investigation [illegible]

It is to be [illegible] that [illegible] of New York [illegible] world's fair bill [illegible] the senate uniting for that purpose with the Southern members, who are opposed to holding any fair at all. New York was fairly beaten in the contest for the site, and beaten largely through the fault of her own people. The best reparation she can make for the rather discreditable figure she cut in the contest is to accept defeat gracefully and avoid placing any obstacle in the way of the fair, if she is not generous enough to contribute to its success. The attitude of the Southerners who are opposing the holding of any fair is difficult to understand except upon the dog in the manger principle. The bill makes no appropriation in aid of the fair, only one of $1,500,000 for a government building, which will be expended under the direction of its own officials and not handled by the fair managers.

The captious citizens of Spokane Falls find fault with the thrift of the railroad company that intended it to dispose of a car load of beef (that had been caught in the blockade and held until it gave indisputable evidence of having been dead the traditional "three days") for a nominal price to a man who in turn sold it to the restaurants of the city at a moderate margin on the company's figures. The indignation of the people has indeed gone so far that the last named dispenser of the rotten beef has been arraigned under the statute that was framed to protect unsuspecting stomachs from imposition of this kind, and is likely to be held to a strict account for the transaction. It is thus that tyrannical law interferes with the thrift of the makeshift order and frowns upon the attempt of a storm-beleaguered railroad to protect itself from loss.

The great West makes itself felt in the grand rally around Chicago in the house of representatives, [illegible] proving itself stronger than the East and South combined. It is needless to say that Hermann of Oregon and Wilson of Washington were in favor of Chicago as the place for holding the world's fair, not sharing the view of members who had never been west of the Mississippi that the great Western city is too far away from New York to be accessible to exhibitors and visitors. A thousand miles is a short distance to men who travel three or four times that distance to represent their constituents in the national congress.

The rather peculiar manner in which the coroner's inquest upon the murdered Mrs. Scott at Woodland was conducted compels a suspension of judgment until the examination or trial of the prisoner. Scott himself has no reason to complain of the secrecy with which the inquest was conducted, as his own evidence [illegible] given freely to the public. It appears, however, that the evidence against him has been carefully suppressed except some fragments that leaked out in spite of the efforts of the officials. The purpose of this seems to be to keep the knowledge in the possession of the prosecution from the counsel for the defense.

The prayer for a recess of the Washington legislature till June was short lived. The members seem to have given it up soon after their return from the convivial occasion which gave it birth. This is probably the wiser part. If the members are really in a hurry to get back to their homes and business they will probably work more expeditiously now than they would in the heat of midsummer after a three months' vacation. If they came back eased and refreshed in June there is no knowing when Olympia would see the last of them.

The unexpected recurrence of snow in the Grand Ronde valley will fall heavily upon the stock of that region. The unusual severity of the winter has severely tried the resources of even the more forehanded stock men, and a ten days' continuance of the late fall of snow will decimate both flocks and herds frightfully. While the financial loss will be serious, the suffering of the miserable brutes pinched by cold and starvation is the feature of the situation that appeals most strongly to sympathy.

The most serious loss by the burning of the Vancouver court house is, of course, the county record. Those of the courts are entirely gone, but those of the treasurer and auditor, including records of tax payments, mortgages and real estate titles, are in a vault supposed to be fire proof and may be recovered. If they are found to be intact the people of the county can bear the [illegible] loss with philosophy.

SPIRIT OF THE NORTHWEST PRESS

A SOCIALISTIC [illegible].

East Oregonian: There must be something radically wrong in a system of government when there is even the necessity for a law [illegible] is published [illegible] Acquired. He has no right [illegible] no law can give him a right [illegible] for any law which purports to do so is itself an instrument of tyranny and oppression, a rebellion against which is not only justifiable but is the duty of men who hold freedom as dear as life. If this be "socialism," make the most of it.

THE PARADISE FOR POOR MEN.

CALKINS CANDIDACY [illegible]

THE TASK IS TOO GREAT.

Seattle Journal: Judging from present indications it is more than doubtful whether the present legislature will succeed in formulating any measure disposing of the vexed tide land question. The interests to be protected and consulted are so diverse, and it may be added so antagonistic, that to harmonize these conflicting interests is a task quite beyond the mental calibre of the members of Washington's legislature.

SUCH MODESTY IS COMMENDABLE.

East Oregonian: The Astorian ingenuously admits that it does not expect that city to overtake San Francisco in size this year.

OLYMPIA, [illegible].—[Special Telegram.]—The [illegible] final adjournment [illegible]

[illegible]

A [illegible] Union [illegible] men [illegible] Ed. Clement [illegible] applauded.

The bill for the incorporation of cities containing [illegible]0,000 inhabitants was passed in the house this afternoon. Governor Ferry is reported as telling [illegible] that he would [illegible] the bill as it was [illegible] cities [illegible] power to [illegible] own gas [illegible].

The [illegible] committee [illegible] Mitchell and Clark bills [illegible] oyster lands [illegible] interested [illegible] Moran of Seattle. [illegible] tomorrow [illegible] skirmish. Some think [illegible] break up in a row, and that [illegible] tide land legislation this session [illegible] secretary of the interior [illegible] harbor line [illegible] Others [illegible] knot [illegible] resolution fixing [illegible] in March [illegible] legislation. Many [illegible] Governor [illegible] could [illegible] himself [illegible] improvements [illegible] regardless of their being [illegible] upland owners [illegible] court right.

[illegible] debate as to [illegible] Eastern Washington [illegible] sale by public auction while Western Washington men [illegible] pending bills. The [illegible] Eastern Washington [illegible] idea [illegible] tide lands [illegible] of Mexico. Their estimate [illegible] $450,000 to $1,500,000. The [illegible] of Western Washington men is $10,000,000. The Eastern Washington [illegible] will not [illegible] full value of them.

A [illegible] point is likely to be raised as to the price at which tide lands are to be sold and whether [illegible] value at the time the improvements were made [illegible]. The owners of the improvements hold that [illegible] exclusively [illegible]. If this idea is [illegible] the state will realize a long ways [illegible] $1,000,000.

[illegible] this morning Geoghegan presented [illegible] Attorney General Jones to [illegible] the equitable rights of [illegible] owners [illegible] lands. It [illegible] postponed by an overwhelming vote. It is suspected that the attorney general [illegible] newspaper attacks upon Clark's tide lands bill and the legislature. [illegible] Representative Geoghegan afterward explained that he offered the resolution because [illegible] that the preponderance of opinion in Eastern Washington is against recognizing the so-called equitable rights of abutting owners, and as the attorney general entertained that opinion he thought no wrong would be done by giving him a hearing.

Senator Payne's amendment that Bayview in Skagit county be substituted for Lynden, in Whatcom, was the cause of Parkinson voting against Watt's omnibus normal school bill today in the senate, and the Whatcom senator's vote would have passed the bill. A long debate was evolved over passage of the bill, and a passage of arms between Long of Lewis and Parkinson was the most interesting feature of the session. Long, in the course of a speech, said Parkinson had [illegible] to him shortly before the bill was taken up [illegible] that if he (Long) would make a speech in favor of the measure he (Parkinson) would follow [illegible]. This statement Parkinson, rising to a question of privilege, said was a [illegible] misstatement of fact. The Lewis senator glared for a moment at [illegible] but [illegible] reply [illegible]. The bill was lost, 17 ayes, 13 nays, Long changing his vote to no and Parkinson gave notice to reconsider. Parkinson's treatment of the measure which he had previously advocated was very generally condemned by his colleagues. Wilson's bill establishing a normal school at Ellensburgh was then taken up and passed without amendments. The belief is that it will be killed in the house.

The house is always getting itself into a peck of trouble. Since [illegible] it has increased the pay of nearly every one of its employes and officers after they had been in service for some time. Among those who have profited thereby is Speaker [illegible], who was voted $3 per day as extra compensation in addition to his per diem as a member of the legislature. Yesterday it voted $1 per day extra to the speaker's secretary and three [illegible] and allowed them the increased pay from the date of appointment. All this was clearly unconstitutional, according to article 2, section 25, which reads: "The legislature shall never grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent, servant or contractor after the services have been rendered or the contract entered into, nor shall the compensation of any public officer be increased or diminished during his term of office." In all the cases cited above extra compensation has been allowed after the contract had been entered into.

Cook introduced a bill in the house this morning imposing a tax of 10 cents on every 100 pounds of fish, oysters, clams and crabs, the license to be paid into the school fund. Sims thought such a law as this was needed to reimburse the counties for the expense they are put to in quelling troubles among the fishermen. Mealey, who is a Columbia river canner, said the imposition of this tax would be an injustice to the canners and would have a tendency to drive the salmon packing industry out of the state, especially so as on account of over production the canners have so far made no preparation for this year's work. He admitted that the [illegible] an equitable bill [illegible]. He said the canners were willing to [illegible] to protect [illegible] industry. The bill was indefinitely postponed.

Governor Ferry will tomorrow send to the house his veto of [illegible] expected. [illegible]

United States Marshal Fred Brownson [illegible] the opening of the United States court, which will convene as soon as the nomination of Judge Hanford is confirmed.

The senate committee on municipal corporations held a meeting this evening and decided to report on Saturday a bill for the incorporation of small cities and towns. The bill as now being drafted [illegible] conform very largely to the present California and Ohio laws. The passage of the bill is very much needed, as towns in the state were deprived of their charters by the recent decision of the supreme court.

The revenue bill is finished and will be reported to both houses in a day or two. It is very [illegible] in its provisions, and its framers claim that it will bring into the treasury, in addition to what would be collected were the present law [illegible]

The Clallam County Road Case.

PORT TOWNSEND, Feb. [illegible]5.—[Special Telegram.]—Judge Sachs rendered a decision in the Clallam county road case today. The action was brought by some taxpayers to restrain payment of $13,000 allowed by the county commissioners for building public roads. The work was performed, county warrants issued and the county treasurer paid about $5,000 in satisfaction of part of the warrants. Judge Sachs rendered an opinion declaring the commissioners had authority and power to make a contract for building the road, but that the authorization to the auditor to draw warrants and his drawing them in excess of a sum equal to two-tenths of 1 per cent of the taxable property of the county of Clallam aggregating $4,000 was unauthorized by law and in direct violation of the legislative [illegible] limiting liabilities for that purpose, and all warrants drawn in excess of the amount authorized by law were and are illegal and void. This decision invalidates the payment of nearly $9000 of warrants which have passed from the hands of original holders to other parties interested in the suit. Defendants gave notice of exceptions to the decision and moved a new trial.

The Spokane Fair.

SPOKANE FALLS, Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—A meeting of trustees of the fair association was held today. It was decided not to remove the old fair grounds, to which objection had been made because the property was too valuable for such purposes. The grounds will be extensively improved and much money spent on them. Two meetings will be held this summer, one a racing meeting only on July 3, 4 and 5 and the regular fair meeting in the fall. Rich purses and stakes will be offered, and indications point to a very prosperous season. There is some dissension, however, in the ranks of the association. John [illegible], a heavy stockholder, demands a stockholders' meeting, and threatens to bring an injunction on the trustees to force them to make an accounting of moneys which he alleges have never been acknowledged by them.

Notes from Pendleton.

PENDLETON, Or., Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—Sheriff Houser searched the east bound train this morning to catch a Frenchman named Joseph Wine, who is wanted at The Dalles for robbery and was supposed to be on the train. His family, a wife and five children, were found, but no sign of Wine. His family, who are in destitute circumstances, were furnished transportation to The Dalles.

I. T. Barr, who stabbed himself accidentally, is recovering from his severe illness.

The time for hearing the motion to dissolve the injunction in the Baker county mining case, which came up before Judge Fee yesterday in chambers, was set for next Monday.

It is very cold tonight, the thermometer marking 10 degrees below zero.

Horses Dying in the Big Bend.

PENDLETON, Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—John B. Ray has received a letter from his father-in-law, Mr. Garrett Crystal, who has charge of his band of horses and cattle in the Big Bend country on Whitmore creek, stating that the horses were caught in a blizzard while two miles from his hay stacks and were [illegible] in the drifts. They are dying rapidly. Crystal offered $150 for a single ton of hay near where the horses were caught, but was refused. A neighbor has lost 400 out of a band of 800 horses. The snow is three and one half feet deep on a level. The letter was brought out by other men on snowshoes. Communication is cut off almost entirely from the sections mentioned.

Rough Weather on the Sealing Grounds.

VICTORIA, Feb. 25.—The sloop Alice arrived from the west coast Sunday and reports the weather so stormy that sealing was impossible. Considerable trouble is being experienced this year in securing crews.

Captain Jacobs, the former owner of the American sealing schooner Molly Adams, is still confined in jail, not having yet convinced the court that he is unable to pay Baxter the sum awarded him for breach of contract by Jacobs failing to deliver seal skins over to him. This is the case in which Justice Drake decided that Behring sea was a high sea, open to all commerce.

A Requisition Under False Pretenses.

OLYMPIA, Feb. 25.—[Special Telegram.]—Governor Ferry today refused the request of the governor of Iowa for the extradition of a young man named John Walker, wanted for seduction. Governor Ferry thought it was an attempt to get the young man back to Iowa to serve a summons in a civil suit upon him and not to prosecute him for the crime with which he was charged.

Port Townsend Laundry Burned.

PORT TOWNSEND, Feb. 24.—[Special Telegram.]—Fire broke out in the Mount Baker steam laundry this morning, and it was partially destroyed. The loss is $1,500, partially insured in the Niagara Fire Insurance Company for $1000. The fire started in a gasoline explosion, which severely burned John Webber, the foreman.

IAL FLOOD SERVICE FOR OREGON

vement on Foot to Memorialize Congress for an Appropriation.

ply to a communication setting forth the of a special river service, United States ervice Observer B. S. Pague received the from the head of the department at ington:

river appropriation for this service this a year, an amount insufficient to extend the r efficiency of the present river and flood n of reports. The chief signal officer has the sum of $4300, which is necessary for the rivers, and it is understood that that will be taken by the river men—parties interested in the Ohio and its tributaries the an increase is given. If the flood ion is of such great importance to the coast, as is set forth in your letter, the people the so interested to take it up to induce representatives in congress an increased priation for the flood service, with the at this extra amount shall be spent in the c coast region.

Pague states that the many inquiries made office regarding the hight of the water during flood convinced him of the importance of lishing a flood service. Owing to the fact legraph wires were down at the most im ines, he could not obtain as full reports as esired; but even the meager dispatches for the condition of the flood at other points received with the greatest interest by the business men whose property was imperiled. explained the situation in detail to the chief l officer at Washington and urged the appro ion of enough funds to establish a special service.

the appropriations are exhausted, however, ourse suggested in the chief signal officer's will be taken. The matter will be brought the meeting of the Board of Trade to-day, and there is no question but what the steps to memorialize congress regarding the al appropriation will be taken.

is desirable," said Mr. Pague, "that the flood e be in operation before the expected flood, as the hight of the water at different s along the Columbia from time to time during the rise will enable Portland merchants to calculations for saving their property. In amount of snow and rain fall, from the re I constantly receive, will be pretty well n, the volume of water in the river can be ed on with some degree of accuracy. the river service could be established at an al ture of $1000, or perhaps less. I would rain gauges at twenty or thirty points along Columbia and Willamette, and establish a giving the stage of the water every day s or more often. Equal interest is manifest at points in other counties where like efforts have been made to bring our issues before the people."

"Then you propose to have full state and county tickets in the field, do you?"

"Certainly. The state central committee meet Thursday of this week, in this city, to arrange for thorough organization of the state and to fix a date for state nominating convention."

"Do you think that the Grangers, Knights of Labor and the trades unions will generally fall in line with the new movement?"

Hayes, master of our state Grange, is a prominent member of our state committee, and Dr. Hendrix, master workman of the Knights of Labor, is chairman of the state committee. Prominent members of the Federated Trades of Portland are also with us. The two gentlemen first named will take an active part in the coming campaign, and the elements they represent, where properly organized, will fall in line almost to a man."

"Do you think you have reasonable hopes of accomplishing any permanent result by this combination movement?"

"Yes, sir. This movement is national. While we are the first state to organize a state movement, several other states have elected representatives in their legislatures on this line. The St. Louis Federation of the Farmers' Alliance, Industrial Union and Knights of Labor, with a voting constituency of 4,000,000, furnish a nucleus of a new party, which, with proper management, can control national legislation four years hence, and a call has already been issued for a national convention of all reform forces to meet in St. Louis next September."

A FARCICAL PROCEEDING.

Two Well-Known Business Men Arrested for Assault When None Was Committed.

A. L. Wiley and J. D. Dunne, of the Great Eastern tea store, were arrested several days since, under the names of John Doe and Richard Roe, on a charge of assault and battery, the complaint being sworn to by B. M. Behrenz, proprietor of the brush and wicker store on Third street, near Harrison.

The defendants had an examination in the police court yesterday afternoon, and some rather contradictory evidence was given. Behrenz had been purchasing tea of the company to take advantage of the 2½ per cent. rebate offered, and having accumulated 75 cents' worth of the yellow pasteboards, went to the store to have the firm redeem them with tea. He was told that the tickets were redeemable with china and crockery ware only, but as he wanted tea, he took a package without being invited to do so. He swore yesterday that the defendants, in their efforts to take the tea from him, assaulted him and knocked him down.

The defendants denied the assault, although it was admitted that Behrenz tripped up against a stool while Wiley was endeavoring to gain possession of his own property. There was no assault committed in fact, although Judge Tanner held that perhaps Wiley was technically guilty of the charge. He accordingly fined him $10, but a few minutes later, after reconsidering the matter, remitted the fine. It was a farcical proceeding throughout, and Behrenz had no business to bring the matter in court.

Behrenz swore out warrants for the arrest of the defendants in Justice Biles's court later in the afternoon, but wisely concluded to withdraw the complaints before the cases were brought to trial.

CONLY WILL TACKLE FLAHERTY.

The "Ithica Giant" Makes a Match for a Ten Rounds Contest.

At a meeting in the Gilman last evening, the representatives of M. C. Conly, of Ithica, N. Y. and Dave Flaherty, of Chicago, a match was made between the heavy-weights, to box a ten-round scientific match in the Mechanics' Pavilion, March 8th, the winner to receive the greater portion of the receipts, and the contest to continue until a winner is declared. If Jack Dempsey is in Portland on that date he will be asked to referee the contest. Conly commences training to-day and will reduce some twenty pounds before the date of the contest. Flaherty is in active training, and will step into the ring weighing 185 pounds, Conly weighing five pounds more.

The records of both men are good, especially that of Conly, who will remain in Portland, and will be ready to meet Choynski, Fell, Corbett, or any heavy-weight who may wish to try conclusions with him.

Joe Choynski writes Morgan that he will be in Portland shortly, and will be ready to accommodate most anybody. Five men, he says, promised to meet him in Frisco, but all failed to come to time.

Conly and Flaherty will meet to-night at M. A. Gunst's to sign articles of agreement.

AFTER THE SALMON CANNERIES.

A British Syndicate Secures an Option on Nearly All of Them.

A prominent cannery man informs the Astorian that an agent of an English syndicate has secured an option on every cannery on the Columbia except three, the amount of purchase price aggregating nearly a million dollars. The sale, if effected, will not materially affect the business interests of Astoria, but it is likely to affect the status of the Fishermen's Union, as one firm, owning and operating all the canneries, will be able to have more influence in fixing the price of fish than the disorganized cannery men have had of late years.

"It is believed," says the Astorian, "that the first move would be a conference between the representatives of the syndicate and the representatives of the union, with a view to a mutual understanding. In that case it is more than probable that the union would favor a reduction in the number of boats on the river, to run say 700 the coming season, and that those thus employed in so greatly reduced numbers be resident fishermen and members of the union."

A STRONG PIVOTAL PIER.

Description of the One for the Proposed New Madison Street Bridge.

The pivotal pier for the Madison street bridge, work on which has been commenced, is to be more substantial than that in either of the other bridges. The foundation will be of piling driven as far as possible in the bed of the river and sawed off level with the bottom, or nearly so. On this will rest a grillage of timbers forty feet square at the bottom and tapering to thirty feet at the top, which will be several feet under the water. This grillage will not be of solid layers of timber as is the grillage of the street bridge, but will have rocks placed between the sticks of timber in the layers to reduce the buoyancy, and will be built around a stick of timber eighteen inches square, which will be driven into the river bed as far as possible. Instead of a structure of masonry on top of the grillage to carry the turn table of the draw, a circular shell of three-eighth iron, thirty-two feet high and three feet in diameter, filled with concrete, will be used. A pier constructed in this manner will be able to resist anything likely to come against it, and there will be no danger of the grillage upsetting, as happened at the steel bridge. Work was suspended on the bridge yesterday on account of the very cold wind which covered the ropes and tools with ice and rendered it very uncomfortable for the men.

ALL BUSTLE AND ACTIVITY.

Anacortes Coming to the Front—New Buildings, Shipping, Etc.

ANACORTES, Wash., Feb. 21.—[Special Correspondence.]—Your correspondent has just returned from a stroll through the streets of the city, and he can say that not the slightest abatement in the activity in business circles is apparent. Buildings are going up just as fast as lumber can be obtained and men to build them.

Last night the newly appointed citizens' committee did good work by ridding the town of fifteen of the toughest characters in Washington state. These characters hailed principally from Seattle. The citizens are determined, in the absence of leading officials, to assist the deputy marshal in preserving order to the best of their ability.

The morning steamer from Seattle yesterday put in no appearance at all, owing to an accident, by which the Skagit Chief lost a portion of her upper deck, the Evangel of Port Townsend being the intruder.

Six steamers arrived in port this morning (Saturday), and were at the wharf at one time. Upwards of 800 people were on the wharves, and a general bustle which is rarely seen in cities of 3,000 inhabitants. It is admitted on all sides that no town in the United States has made such wonderful progress in so short a time as Anacortes.

The Anacortes Real Estate and Auction Company, composed of several influential citizens and capitalists, will hold its first sale of choice properties in the town of Anacortes, on Saturday, the 1st day of March next. Very valuable and choice properties are listed for this first sale.

"AFRO-AMERICAN LEAGUE."

A Meeting Held Last Night and an Organization Effected.

Pursuant to call the colored citizens of Portland met last night at the A. M. Zion Episcopal church, for the purpose of organizing an "Afro-American Protection League."

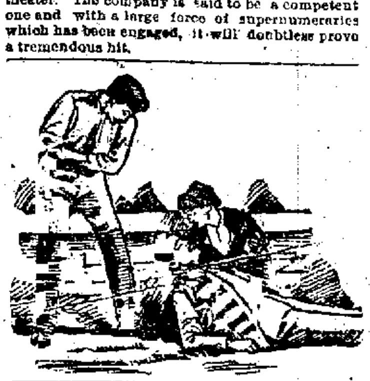
The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock by Rev. T. Brown, who was elected chairman, and W. H. Woods secretary. Mr. Brown, in a few well chosen remarks stated the object of the meeting, after which a permanent organization was effected by the election of the following officers: President, Rev. T. Brown; first vice president, A. J. Ward; second vice president, W. H. Woods; secretary, Charles A. Ritter; assistant secretary, Edward Watson; treasurer, James Harriell; sergeant-at-arms, Robert Arington.

A committee of five was then appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws to be presented at the next meeting, after which the league adjourned until next Tuesday evening, at which time Mr. S. Terry, Mr. W. F. Golden and Mr. George W. Sweeting will, by special invitation, deliver addresses before the league. The league starts off with a large membership and expects to increase the number at the next meeting.

THE THEATERS TO-NIGHT.

"Shenandoah" at the Marquam Grand—Attractions at the Other Houses.

To-night the strong play of "Shenandoah," which has attracted such generally favorable notices, and drawn such large audiences wherever it has been produced, will be seen for the first time in Portland at the Marquam Grand theater. The company is said to be a competent one and with a large force of supernumeraries which has been engaged, it will doubtless prove a tremendous hit.



Some amusing things have happened in connection with this play. The following is said to have occurred in New York:

During the rehearsals and before the production of the play, the gentleman who was cast to play Captain Thornton, the Confederate officer, in going through a scene in which he is placed under arrest by two Union soldiers, took occasion to say to the men, who, he supposed, were merely "supers," that they were to take hold of him in a certain way, and to be sure, when the order of march was given, to put forward their right feet. The men made no reply, but a day or so later the actor's breath fell two feet when he was informed that the men who figured with him in the arrest scene were United States regulars, twenty of whom were from the Brooklyn navy yard and appeared nightly in "Shenandoah."

He wasn't any worse off than the stage manager, who at the first rehearsal gave the regulars a command to run, and was surprised to see them run off the stage into the scene room, where they kept jostling each other in the corner, in an apparently vain effort to go through the wall. "Command them to halt," a sergeant suggested. "Halt!" called the stage manager, and the soldiers ceased their scrambling. The laugh, of course, was on the stage manager. The beauty of having genuine soldiers in a military play is manifest in the smoothness and accuracy of all the marching scenes of "Shenandoah."

Colonel F. Mears, who is at Vancouver barracks on court martial duty, and who is one of the oldest and most prominent United States military officers, was the gentleman originally selected by Bronson Howard to drill the soldiers who took part in the performance of "Shenandoah" at its first production in Boston. Through the courtesy of Colonel T. M. Anderson, commanding officer at the barracks, a detachment of United States soldiers with Sergeant Hoffman in charge, will participate in to-night's performance of this great military play. There will be over 100 people on the stage, and every detail no matter how slight, is said to be critically correct in accordance with every requirement of the United States tactics. It has required a force of twenty men since Saturday evening last to set the stage of the one scene representing the valley of Shenandoah.

New Park Theater.

The military drama, "Our Heroes," with Company C of the Oregon National Guard as the strong feature of the production, continues to be the attraction at this house. The militia boys appear to fine advantage, and go through their various evolutions and drills in a most praiseworthy manner. The special drill of eight picked men last night, and which forms one of the principal attractions for the remainder of the week, was a most creditable piece of military tactics. The comedy work of Messrs. Williams and Broffy as the Dutch and Irish soldiers creates considerable amusement.

The company is deserving of great credit for its efforts to raise funds to purchase uniforms, and it should receive the hearty support and encouragement of the public.

Cordray's Theater.

"The Hidden Hand" received its second performance last night and was witnessed by equally as large and interested an audience as on Monday evening. The play went more smoothly and the cast were more familiar with their lines.

The usual Wednesday matinee for ladies and children will be given this afternoon at 1:30.

A GREAT EVENT.

East Tacoma Arousing From Her Long Sleep Will Teem With Busy Life.

The early opening of that portion of the Puyallup Indian reservation, immediately opposite Tacoma is considered a likely event. No stronger combination ever worked to secure the accomplishment of a similar undertaking. Usually the white population and the railroads are on one side and the Indians on the other. Here, however, all are asking congress to vacate, particularly the shore and high lands. There is every reason why this reasonable request should be granted. The lands while unfit for any Indian use, are sufficiently valuable for commercial and shipping purposes to add millions to King county's assessed property valuation, while the splendid East Tacoma water frontage, now silent as death, is sufficiently necessary for the requirements of commerce to quickly teem with busy, bustling industrial life. The opening of this reservation will act like magic upon the now dormant East Tacoma values, as a city will be built over there in a twinkling. All rail travel from Portland via Tacoma to Seattle will also be greatly facilitated as the direct route from Tacoma to Seattle, made possible by vacation of the reservation, will be much shorter than that traveled at present.

THE SANTA ROSA'S TRIP.

Among the 184 cabin passengers who arrived on the Santa Rosa, were the Shenandoah Theatrical Company, composed of twenty-seven members. The steamship company has realized from the company over $800 on this one passage. While playing in San Francisco the company were delayed, and paid to the steamship managers $500 to postpone the sailing date one day. Thus it is that they play in Portland as billed. After leaving the bay city the steamer's machinery waxed warm, and it was found necessary to slow down until they reached quieter water, when a stop of full twenty minutes was made, to allow the engines to thoroughly cool off. Captain Gage says the trip up was one of the pleasantest he ever made. The ocean was as smooth as a river, and without crowding, the vessel attained a high rate of speed. The first day out the Santa Rosa made 341 miles, without being pushed. The steamer leaves to-night for San Francisco.

DEATH OF AN HONORED PIONEER.

John Sweek, a well known pioneer of Washington county, died at his residence at Tualatin yesterday. He was born at St. Genevieve, St. Genevieve county, Missouri, March 29, 1822. He came to Oregon with the great immigration of 1852, and settled on the farm about ten miles southwest of Portland, on the Tualatin river, where he resided until his death. He contracted the cold, which developed into pneumonia and caused his death, while saving other property from the flood in the Tualatin river, in the early part of this month.

He has been a prominent man in Washington county for many years, and his friends are numerous in that county and various parts of the state. He leaves a wife and six children, five of whom he lived to see grown into men and women. Cyrus A. Sweek; Lawrence Sweek and Mrs. Lilly B. Harding, living in Eastern Oregon; Mrs. Milton W. Smith and Alexander Sweek, living in the city of Portland, and Thomas Sweek, the youngest, living at home. His three children living here were with him during his last illness, but so sudden was the summons that the others could not be reached in time to get here before death called him away. The funeral will take place at his late residence, at Tualatin, Thursday, at 11 o'clock A. M., and the remains will be buried at the Riverview cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM.

Died.—At the home of her parents, near Canby, Or., February 14, 1890, Miss Malvina Williams, aged 33 years.

Miss Williams came to Oregon with her parents in 1865, since which time they have resided in Clackamas county. About nine years ago she began teaching in the public schools of this county.

Her intense application and sincere love for the work, added to a pleasing adress, made her a successful teacher—one who was beloved by pupils and patrons. She was taken ill about a month before her death, while teaching in the little village of Canby.

She had made arrangements to build a residence here, where she and her parents intended to reside. Soon after she was prostrated her parents were taken ill, her father dying February 16. She realized that the bright dreams of life were vanishing. The star of hope was losing its luster; her vision of earth was becoming limited. She could hear the breaking of the waves on the farther shore; she could see the beautiful flowers growing on the banks beyond.

She did not fear to go; but it was hard to leave the dear friends whom she had known so long and loved so well.

Let us hope that the loving words of those who had been with her during her illness were the last sounds she heard; that the dreams of a life beyond the grave were fulfilled.

She was in the springtime of life. The bright constellation of hope shone in the broad firmament. It seemed as though she stood on the eminence that overlooked the sea of expectation, and that she beheld the haven. Life's hardest battle had been fought, and now she was about to enjoy the peace and quietude that follows conscientious work when the fatal message was received. She passed from the bright and pleasing hopes of this world to the land from whence no traveler returns. Let us hope that the rippling of the waves on the golden strand bring a sweet cadence; that there is no pain or sorrow; that quietude and peace reign supreme, and that the fountain of eternal life is laden with the sweet perfume of love.

S. A. D. GURLEY.

LIEUT. STEELE'S SIDE.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Feb. 25.—To THE EDITOR: The despatches relating to the irregularity of the trial of Trooper Wild, in which the principal prosecuting witness, Lieut. Steele, figures as judge advocate, appear to be, judging from highly reliable private information, somewhat overdrawn and tending to the sensational. Lieut. Steele, to use very modest language, is known to be a very painstaking and efficient army officer. While engaged trying to stop a leak on the roof of his quarters by means of a heavy tarpaulin the soldier happened to pass by, and Lieut. Steele, not being able to accomplish his task alone called on him for assistance. The soldier, instead of complying with the request which, under the circumstances would have been done by any passer-by, even though totally unconnected with the military service, chose to stand on his dignity and refused point blank. This somewhat changed the case and Lieut. Steele ordered him to obey his request, which order being again met with a refusal accompanied by impudent language, finally called the officer down from the roof and led him to inflict instant punishment, subsequently preferring charges against the man. Unfortunately for himself, Lieut. Steele was appointed judge advocate of the court which was convened by the department commander for the trial of the case—unfortunately, for in his double capacity as prosecutor for the government and ex officio counsel for accused his hands were very much tied and prevented a vigorous prosecution, though the accused had the privilege and right [in trials by courts-martial] to choose his own counsel. Hence the whole proceedings may eventually turn out to be very much more to the credit of Lieut. Steele and the administration of military justice in the department of Dakota than the despatches in the case would seem to indicate. If any blame is to be attached as to the shortcomings of trial by court-martial and as to the results arising out of the conflicting duties of a judge advocate, it is properly to be laid, not to the army, but to congress. Notwithstanding the oft repeated recommendations of the judge advocate general, backed by all the higher officers in the army, congress has thus far refused to make the necessary changes in our antiquated system of military jurisprudence.

THE SCHOOL DIRECTORSHIP.

PORTLAND, Feb. 25.—To THE EDITOR: The subject of the election of a director to fill the vacancy in our school board soon to be caused by the expiration of Hon. D. P. Thompson's term should not be ignored by our citizens.

An examination of Mr. Thompson's official record will disclose that he has brought to the discharge of his duties as director the zeal, fidelity and intelligence, which have become recognized as characteristics of the man, and the district is to be congratulated in having had such devoted service.

It is understood that Mr. Thompson has been urgently requested to again serve the district in the board, and it is believed that his five years' of service have so familiarized him with the duties of the position and enlisted his interest in the grand cause of public education, that he will consent to be his own successor if the electors desire it.

In view of his large experience and recognized fitness, there ought to be no hesitation on the part of the tax payers of the district. Mr. Thompson should be overwhelmingly elected.

AN EIGHT ROUND SPORTING CONTEST.

There will be an eight round sparring match for points, to-morrow evening at Cort's Standard theater, between Billy Costello and Gus Wenzell, two well known local sports. A purse of $25 has been made, $20 to go to the winner and $5 to the loser. Manager Letcher has gone to a good deal of extra trouble and expense to secure this interesting additional attraction to his already excellent show, and a good house is a foregone conclusion as both men are confident and are in to win. The contest will no doubt prove very exciting.

Awful Blood Humor

Terrible Blood Poison. Suffered all a man could suffer and live. Face and body covered with awful sores. Used the Cuticura Remedies ten weeks, and is practically cured. A remarkable case.

Cured by Cuticura

I contracted a terrible blood poisoning a year ago. I doctored with two good physicians, neither of whom did me any good. I suffered all a man can suffer and live. Hearing of your CUTICURA REMEDIES I concluded to try them, knowing if they did me no good they could make me no worse. I have been using them about ten weeks, and am most happy to say that I am almost rid of the awful sores that covered my face and body. My face was as bad, if not worse, than that of Miss Boynton, spoken of in your book, and I would say to any one in the same condition to use CUTICURA, and they will surely be cured. You may use this letter in the interests of suffering humanity.

Knee to Foot Running Sores

I have been afflicted with a sore limb, which the doctors call eczema. My limb from the knee to the foot was one mass of running sores. The doctors bandaged it every day for a week, and every time the bandage was removed a large scab would come off and the blood pour down. I got one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one box CUTICURA, and one cake CUTICURA SOAP, and they cured me. I told a lady who was similarly afflicted to use it, and it cured her also. I gratefully acknowledge that it was CUTICURA that cured me.

RECEIVES HIS HEARING.

After Ten Years of Almost Post Deafness John Wansley Is Cured in Two Days.

Three Operations by Dr. Aborn, the Successful Eye, Ear, Catarrh, Throat and Lung Physician, Imparts to Him Perfect Hearing.

READ HIS SWORN AFFIDAVIT.

Portland, Or., Feb. 25, 1890.

JOHN WANSLEY, being duly sworn, does depose and say:

I hereby certify that for eight or ten years I have been afflicted with deafness; I also have had the catarrh of the head in its worst form, and I applied to Dr. Aborn, Fourth and Morrison street, two days ago for treatment, and at that time I was so deaf in both ears that I could not hear the ticking of a watch when placed against my head. By three treatments Dr. Aborn has, to my great astonishment, so perfectly restored my hearing that I can now hear a watch tick about three feet distant from my head, and his treatment caused me no pain or the least inconvenience. My catarrh, also, which was so troublesome, has been greatly benefited by two treatments. I certainly feel almost dazed at such a quick restoration of my hearing. May the Doctor live long to relieve the afflicted of their suffering, is the prayer of his grateful patient,

Purify Your Blood

When spring approaches it is very important that the blood should be purified, as at this season impurities which have been accumulating for months or even years are liable to manifest themselves and seriously affect the health. Hood's Sarsaparilla is undoubtedly the best blood purifier. It expels every taint, drives out scrofulous humors, and gives to the blood the quality and tone essential to good health.

"For five years I was sick every spring, but last year began in February to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I used five bottles and have not been a sick day since." G. W. SLOAN, Milton, Mass.

"I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine for women, or anyone who has bad blood." JENNIE E. SMITH, East Broad Top, Pa.

It is true economy to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla, for "100 Doses One Dollar" is original with and truly only of this popular medicine. If you wish to prove this, buy a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and measure its contents. You will find it to hold 100 teaspoonfuls. Now read the directions, and you will find that the average dose for persons of different ages is less than a teaspoonful. This is certainly conclusive evidence of the peculiar strength and economy of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla purified my blood, gave me strength, and overcame the headache and dizziness, so that I am able to work again. I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to others whose blood is thin or impure, and who feel worn out or run down." LUTHER NASON, Lowell, Mass.

Port Townsend

Washington,

[illegible]

Reasons Why Port Townsend Is Destined to be a City of Great Importance.

REASON 1: It has the best harbor of Puget Sound, from Cape Flattery to Olympia, having the most convenient anchorage over the greatest area, from 5 to 15 fathoms deep, with the best holding ground. There are no bars, shoals, rocks or hidden dangers of any kind throughout the entire bay, which is land locked and well sheltered from the stormy winds and from the heavy ocean swell.

REASON 2: Ease of approach from the ocean. A sailing vessel can run direct from the ocean to the anchorage in Port Townsend Bay, with a westerly wind, or beat up to her anchorage with an easterly wind, the Straits of Fuca being over 12 miles wide, while above Port Townsend to any of the cities the navigation is more intricate, requiring the constant use of tugs. Steamers can run the distance from the ocean to Port Townsend during the densest fogs by aid of their compass alone, there being no hidden danger to apprehend.

REASON 3: It is the port of entry of Puget Sound, and its geographical position is such that it will afford greater facilities to commerce over a greater extent of country than any one position on Puget Sound.

REASON 4: It is at the entrance to Admiralty Inlet and within the lines of the proposed military works for the defense of Puget Sound, and is where the naval squadron will have a rendezvous, and where the government will build a dry dock for repairs, and a naval station for supplies for our naval vessels and the merchant marine.

REASON 5: It will become the great wheat shipping point on the Pacific Coast. It has been ascertained that from the junction of the Snake and Columbia rivers to Port Townsend there is a fall of about 400 feet, and that it is practically very nearly a level grade and that one engine can haul 25 loaded cars to Port Townsend, while it takes two decapod engines to haul 14 loaded cars through the tunnel to Tacoma. The peninsula which lies between Port Townsend and Port Discovery harbors, presents on both these harbors a greater extent of water front than any other position on Puget Sound, both of which can be utilized by one line of railroad, thus offering greater facilities for handling vast quantities of wheat than can be found elsewhere in the whole country.

REASON 6: It will be the headquarters and great point of transit of all the whaling fleet, which can here ship all their oil and bone to Eastern markets and save 700 miles of ocean travel which they now have to take to transport these products to San Francisco.

REASON 7: It will be the headquarters of the fishing business. The Union Pacific Railroad Co. stated to the senate committee on relations with Canada who were here in 1889, that they intend putting in refrigerator cars to take fresh fish through on the long haul at greatly reduced rates, and will here ship all the salmon pack, as well as other fish products destined for the interior and Eastern markets.

REASON 8: It is the point of departure for all passengers and freight to British Columbia and Alaska, and its unrivaled scenery makes it the admiration of all tourists who have ever visited Puget Sound.

REASON 9: It is the location of the smelting works of Irondale, on Port Townsend Bay, where the best charcoal iron known in the world is produced. A plant will be put up at these works by the company to manufacture steel plates for boilers and for building vessels, steel rails and all iron material required for railroad construction and every kind of iron for blacksmith use.

REASON 10: Port Townsend, by its geographical position, is intimately and directly connected with Portland, being due north, as can be seen on any map. The Willamette meridian, which commences in Portland as its initial point, terminates in Port Townsend bay, between Point Hudson and Marrowstone Point. The Port Townsend Southern railroad will soon connect the two cities, and Port Townsend will become in fact one of Portland's most important shipping points.

REASON 11: Because on the peninsula between Port Townsend and Port Discovery bays will be built within the very near future the most important city on the Pacific Coast, a city that will be fostered and developed by the Union Pacific railroad, which will here have its grand western terminus, from whence will proceed lines of great ocean steamships which will bring in the commerce of Asia and China and the south seas.

WHAT PORTLANDERS THINK

About Chicago Securing the Site of the World's Fair in 1892.

The Queen City Seems to Be the Favorite—New York Adherents Outspoken—Only One Man for Washington.

The reporters of THE OREGONIAN in their rounds yesterday gathered up a number of representative opinions from leading citizens as to their preferences for the location of the World's fair in 1892. Following are the results of their inquiries:

VIEWS OF MR. WILLIAM KAPUS.

General William Kapus, who should, perhaps, be more interested in the location of the world's fair than any one else in the state, inasmuch as he is the choice of the Oregon delegation as commissioner in the event the great affair materializes, was found in his office on First street.

"Chicago," said the reporter by way of greeting. Mr. Kapus looked up in his usual suave manner, as if in a quandary as to its interpretation, but when the magic word was repeated instinct came to his rescue and he knew what was wanted.

"Congress," said he, "having settled upon Chicago as the site for the world's fair, it doesn't make any difference what one's individual preferences might have been. Chicago is the place selected, and it now behooves every one who takes any interest in the matter to make the fair a success. The fact that Chicago is an inland city is no drawback to its success and does not prevent its becoming what congress intended it should become—a world's fair. The exhibition just closed at Paris is evidence that in order to give the fair an international character it is not necessary that it should be held in a seaboard town, for all the goods shipped from foreign countries intended for the exhibition at Paris had to be reshipped and handled either at Havre or Marseilles. While the distance from New York, Philadelphia or Baltimore to Chicago is greater than the distance from either Havre or Marseilles to Paris, mere distance makes but very little difference, as the cost and danger of breakage is in handling and reloading, which in both cases is identically the same.

"Chicago being the great representative city of the West, it is of the greatest importance that we Western states and cities, especially, should be creditably represented; and it is even now not too early for the officials and citizens of our state to take proper action, that Oregon should make an exhibit worthy of her resources and the wisdom, push, and energy of her people."

THE OPINIONS OF OTHER GENTLEMEN.

Thomas Guinean—I should have preferred New York city, on account of its greater facilities and its more mature artistic taste. Chicago has proved herself an aggressive city, but she lacks that advanced state of progressive civilization which New York possesses. I doubt if any more Americans will attend than if at New York, while the foreign representation will undoubtedly be smaller.

Frank Dayton—I was for New York. I just came from Chicago, and a dirtier city I never saw. One might as well wipe the coal scuttle out with his handkerchief as to try to keep his face and nose clean there. It is a dirty place for any one to stop. I see the Board of Trade has favored Chicago. I don't see why they should. Chicago is our heaviest competitor. It is a frontier town. Three-quarters of the streets are about two feet deep with mud. Chicago will only give us a second-class fair—a New Orleans exposition over again.

L. F. Powers—Chicago is just the place for it. Handy for the coast, and the choice insures the largest possible attendance.

J. A. Child, Chicago is the right place on account of its convenient location. New York was too slow about her subscription. She has not earned it.

P. B. Knight—It is well enough as it is. There will not be any material difference in the foreign representation. The railroad facilities are now so perfect between New York and Chicago that the difference is no obstacle. The fair will lay right over the Paris exposition.

H. B. Litt—The choice of Chicago is most unfortunate. While in Europe last autumn I canvassed the matter, and I know that Chicago is considered quite out of the way there. There is a certain degree of refined civilization at New York which Chicago lacks. The facilities at New York greatly exceed those of Chicago. The elevated roads can carry thousands every hour to the suburbs.

Frank Dekum—My first choice was Washington, second, Chicago. New York had it once. That is enough for her. Chicago is far preferable to New York. It is so central.

George A. Steel—My choice was Chicago.

Ex-Attorney-General George H. Williams—I favored New York. It is a more suitable place and more accessible from the other parts of the world. It is the great commercial center of the country and therefore the natural place for such gatherings. There is far more to be seen there, and the great cities of the seaboard are so easy of access. I should much prefer to go to New York to a fair, and I think most people here would.

Theo. Carlton—Chicago is the only real representative American city we have. New York is a foreign city just as much as Berlin. This is an American affair. We go to foreigners' shows, but they don't come to ours. Even if 200,000 foreigners will come here, what are they to the twenty to forty millions of Americans who will attend during the six months?

C. H. Prescott—Chicago is a good place, and better for this country than New York. If the government don't appropriate for it the Chicagoans will come up smiling with all the money needed.

M. G. Hall—Chicago is the place for it. If held at New York, few coast people would ever see it.

G. W. Staver—Chicago has the best location, the most room, and the best accommodations. They can take more people in and out. The freight rates were equalized by the companies long ago. That was arranged by the Chicago committee. Now we can go and take exhibits.

Eugene Shelby—The selection will cut off a large foreign representation.

Captain George Pope—Chicago is the place. I shall prepare a wool exhibit that will open their eyes. Foreign attendance will not be any less than at New York.

Colonel Charles F. Beebe—I could hardly realize that New York had lost it. She represents to my mind all the wealth, culture, money and brains of the country, and is the only fit place for an international exposition.

James Lotan—Next to Portland, Chicago.

Walt Henderson—It is a great mistake. New York has twenty hotels to Chicago's one. There are the seaside resorts, watering places, and a thousand other ways of taking care of thousands of people. You undertake to get an Englishman or a Frenchman a thousand miles from the ocean and it will shock him. No, the foreigners will not bring their exhibits over. Americans would go anyway.

CHICAGO STILL LEADS.

W. S. Ladd—The further west the fair comes the better for us Western [illegible] The proper place for it is [illegible] New York or Washington, but if Chicago pays for it they are entitled to it.

C. J. Smith—I think Chicago is the right place. I have no doubt of their ability to make a success of it. A fair held there will secure a better representation of the products of the American people than if held at any other place.

S. G. Reed—I glory in the spunk of Chicago, but that is not the best place for the fair. THE OREGONIAN was right in saying that a fair held there would lose all character as an international fair.

John Green—I think the fair should have been held in New York, but Chicago has got it and is entitled to it. I do not suppose congress will make any appropriation for it, but Chicago won't care whether they do or not. They will go ahead anyway, as a million or two don't amount to much with Chicago people.

Mayor DeLashmutt—I think it very proper that the fair should be at Chicago. It is a central point, and this shows that the great West is beginning to be recognized. There are a great many people west of the Mississippi, and when we get a few more states into the Union the country will realize that the West amounts to something.

H. B. Oatman—Chicago suits me first rate. I think that is the place.

C. W. Knowles—I am glad Chicago got it. It shows that they begin to recognize the big and growing West. The Eastern coast has run things the way it wanted them long enough.

B. O. Whitehouse—If New York did not get along any better with raising money for a fair than for the Grant monument they would never have a fair.

E. C. Masten—I felt that Chicago would win, and she deserves the triumph she attained. The board already has a fine exhibit of Oregon products at No. 191 Clark street, and it will give us a good opportunity to advertise the state. The board would allow no opportunity slip to advertise the state by an exhibit of products at this fair or any other large fair. We are only sorry that the choice did not fall on Portland, as our city is without doubt the fairest spot on God's green footstool.

B. S. Pague—I am delighted. Chicago is the place it should be. The United States is celebrating the anniversary of its discovery, and the location will give it a more strictly national character. We want the fair where all can join in celebrating, and the site selected will give it truly American features. European travelers, who usually get as far as the Alleghany mountains, and then think they have seen the entire United States, will have an opportunity to see this great Western country. As an educational factor for European visitors it will be a great thing. The legislature of this state should appropriate at least $50,000 with which to erect buildings and make an exhibit of her products worthy of her boundless resources.

J. P. Kohler—Yes, sir, Chicago is the place. It will be worth $20,000,000 to this western country alone. It shows the enterprise of the growing West and will be of inestimable value in bringing her resources to the front. There is only one enterprise that will work greater good to the Pacific coast, and that is the Nicaragua canal.

Dr. James Brown—My choice was New York, as it is by far the more cosmopolitan city. It would give the fair a more strictly international character as distinguished from a purely national one.

T. A. Stephens—I say good for the West! Hurrah! It shows that Western enterprise is getting on top, and it will stay there.

Judge B. B. Tuttle—Chicago is the place for the fair. I have always been in favor of that city, as it is most centrally located. Yes, it is the center of the world, chimed in Sam Simmons, who was standing near.

Councilman Fliedner—Have it at Chicago by all means. It will be a great thing for the West, and that is the place for it.

Edward Holman—Chicago is the place. It is right that the claims of the West should be recognized. European visitors will see a great country between the Atlantic and Chicago, and they will be tempted to come out further west.

Colonel Milton Weidler—Chicago is all right. It is good walking and not so far to go. I am satisfied.

Chief Engineer Morgan—I am satisfied with almost anything. Chicago is a good place, although it is not so near as Albina. Albina would have suited me.

Henry Hausman—Chicago will do, although Portland would have been better.

CHICAGOANS ARE WIDE AWAKE.

"I think that Chicago deserved the world's fair," said Captain E. S. Edwards, of the United States local inspection service, and Mr. McDermott voiced the same sentiments. Continuing, the captain thought that the Chicagoans were wide awake, and defeated New York honorably, and that the fair would be made a great success and an honor to the nation.

Port Captain James W. Troup, of the Union Pacific, was greatly pleased with Chicago's victory, and looks forward with confidence to the time when the great city will eclipse anything the world has yet produced in the way of fairs. The captain thinks that Chicago has many more suitable, and withal, picturesque sites for the fair than the Empire City, and the many lines running from the heart of the metropolis to all points of the compass, and at all hours, will enable thousands to secure desirable accommodations in the suburbs who can ride to and fro for little or almost nothing.

Captain Flanders, one of Portland's oldest residents, was not quite so sure about Chicago being as good a choice as New York. He thinks that many European travelers, who would be willing to take an ocean voyage to New York, would be adverse to a ride half way across a great continent as soon as landing, but he has no doubts as to Chicago sparing neither pains nor expense to make the great affair a gigantic success.

THE NEW YORKERS SUBSIDED.

The most excited persons over the fair were two New York men and two alleged Chicago men (railroad agents), who met on First street. The New Yorkers said: "Having the fair at Chicago was about as sensible as it would be were it to be held in Oregon, to have it at Salem." At this the Oregonians smiled and thought of fairs gone by. The Chicago men said New York had no sand and had no money, and that a man in Chicago had offered $300,000 for the peanut stand privilege for the fair. This caused the New Yorkers to subside.

GATHERED BEYOND THE RIVER.

Interesting School Notes—Houses in Demand—To Meet—Various Items.

A meeting of the school board was held in the office of the school clerk, A. W. Lambert, Monday night, all the directors being in attendance. It was likely the last meeting the board will hold before the annual meeting of the taxpayers on next Monday night. The principal business before the board was the opening of the bids for the Stephens addition school house. There were a large number of bids submitted. For the twelve-room building the bids for everything contemplated to be finished were all under $20,000, and for the ten-room building about $1000 less than for the twelve-room. None of the contracts will be let until about next Wednesday, after the annual meeting. The board will simply report to the meeting what either building can be put up for, and it will then be determined which building will be erected.

The Sunnyside people reported they have practically complied with the terms of the board and secured grounds for a schoolhouse. The board considers the matter settled and will recommend that the Sunnyside schoolhouse be built. A tax of 3¼ mills will be asked, which is the same as last week. Bonds for $10,000 or $12,000 will be issued for building purposes.

Work on the Stephens schoolhouse will commence as soon as the contract is let. It will be necessary to secure plans and bids for the Sunnyside schoolhouse, but it can be easily finished before the opening next August. It will be easy enough to build the addition to the North Central building.

HOUSES FOR RENT.

A well-known gentleman and property owner in East Portland made the statement yesterday that the reason few houses have been put up for rent was because there has been no money in renting houses in the past. But this has been changed within the past year. Rents have almost doubled within that time. There is a great demand for houses at nearly any price that may be asked. With this inducement it is reasonable to assume that more houses for rent will be erected during the year than ever before.

REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The revival meetings in the Adams-street M. E. church, conducted by Rev. J. H. Webber, are increasing in interest every night. As many from across the river and in other portions of this city desire to attend these meetings, the easiest way to reach Adams-street church is to take the street car on Fifth street and go to its terminus at Adams street at the south end. Here it is but five blocks' walk to the church. Those coming from Portland should take the street car at the west end of Morrison-street bridge.

WILL MEET.

The annual grand council of Royal and Select Masters will meet in East Portland, in Masonic hall, Wednesday, March 5, at 10 A. M.

The secretary of the water commission was instructed to ask the council to appropriate $100 for the use of the supply committee at the meeting Monday night. In the report it was made to appear the commission was to appropriate the money.

BENCH, BARRISTERS, JURY.

J. B. Thompson Cited to Appear and Answer to a Charge of Contempt.

What Was Done in the State and County Courts Yesterday—Before Judge Tanner—The Day's Docket.

An order was made by Judge Sabin, in the case of Steel vs. Rathbon, citing J. B. Thompson to appear this morning and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court. Mr. Thompson had some property in his possession belonging to defendant Rathbon, which Steel put a garnishment upon. Thompson admitted that he had in his possession some property of Rathbon's, but did not say how much. He was ordered by the court to appear before United States Commissioner Paul R. Deady and make a statement as to the value of said property. He appeared before the commissioner, but refused to be sworn or to make the statement required. Wherefore he is cited to appear and show why he should not be punished for contempt.

In the State and County Courts.

C. J. Wren, a subject of Queen Victoria, has declared his intentions of becoming a citizen of the United States.

Oscar Sandman, a German, and Charles N. Anderson, a Swede, have been admitted by Judge Catlin to full citizenship.

Alex Kitterman seeks to recover $850 damages from G. Arata & Co., sustained in a buggy collision on the street, January 15.

Articles incorporating the Portland Ice Works have been filed in the county clerk's office by Rufus Mallory, W. H. Harris and John B. David, with a capital of $50,000.

Yesterday morning the Northwestern Transfer Company began a suit in the circuit court against Howard M. Pierce to recover $55 00 for hauling freight for the defendant.

The time set for hearing argument in the divorce suit of Ivy Miller against W. L. Miller is set for 1:30 P. M. to-day. J. F. Caples and C. M. Idleman will speak on the respective sides.

J. K. Gill & Co. bring attachment proceedings against John W. McCown. Credits in the hands of Weber & Co., dealers in school supplies, on Second street, near Main, were garnished. The debt is $399 95.

The First Congregational church, of Palatine hill, incorporated yesterday, over the signatures of M. Anderson, T. Viggers and S. T. Abernethy. All its earthly store lies in the future, in the shape of donations and contributions.

Judge Stearns will this morning announce decisions in the cases of Frank Dekum vs. Multnomah Street Railway Company, on motion to strike out parts of complaint; Mary F. Hansen vs. H. C. Stratton, on demurrer to complaint.

Alice May Tilden brings action against Frederick Tilden, a non-resident, to secure a divorce. The couple were married at Goldendale, Washington, in 1884. She also asks for the custody of their minor child. Desertion in January of 1886 is the ground of the action.

Yesterday morning was the time fixed for the trial of Jules Bloch, the pawnbroker, indicted for purchasing a large quantity of stolen watches and jewelry, the property of E. R. Butterworth, but owing to the absence of the principal prosecuting witness, the trial was indefinitely continued.

Yesterday afternoon Nellie Bowe, aged 18 years, and residing at No. 204 Front street, was adjudged insane. She had her first attack of insanity four years ago. At times she is very violent and attempts to choke children. The cause of her dementia arose from falling upon her head when in convulsions.

ADMITTED TO PROBATE.

Yesterday afternoon the will of the late Gustave Strube, who died in East Portland on the 21st instant, was filed in the county court. The executors are Mrs. Louise Strube, J. K. Walker and Bernard Pape, and the estate is appraised at $75,000, consisting of $10,000 in personal property, $64,000 in Portland real estate and $1000 in Washington county real estate. Mr. Strube bequeathed his household furniture, horse and buggies, etc., and lots 5 and 6, in block 270, Lane's addition to his wife, Louise Strube. His other property is variously distributed among the heirs and executors.

THE OLDS CASE.

The district attorney yesterday stated that Charles Olds, convicted of murder in the first degree, will neither be sentenced nor will any further steps be taken in his case until the shorthand notes taken at the trial are transcribed, which may require twenty days' time, in view of the great amount of business Stenographer Sholes has on hand. Even then ten or twenty additional days may expire before the convicted man is sentenced.

The Municipal Courts.

E. J. Moore waived examination on two charges of larceny in the police court yesterday afternoon, and was held to answer before the grand jury under bonds in the sum of $600. Thomas Burns, who had a hand in one of the thefts, also waived examination, and he was bound over in the sum of $300. As neither of the men had the necessary coin, or friends to go their bail, they were taken to Jailer James's hostelry, under the courthouse.

R. Rook, Charles Meehus, Henry Carlton and William Gillam, simple drunks, were fined $5 each, and C. F. Porter and John Straub were taxed $10 each for being noisy as well as drunk. Henry Patterson was required to pay a fine of $5 for taking the liberty to cut wood on a sidewalk.

LADY OF THE HOUSE—Do you still like our Charter Oak Stove as well as when first got it, Mary?

SERVANT—Oh, every bit as well, Ma'am.

LADY OF THE HOUSE—I am expecting a friend to take dinner with us next week, on purpose to show her how nice our stove cooks everything, and I want you to have a nice dinner ready.

SERVANT—Indeed I will, Ma'am. There's no trouble to cook nice with that stove. Its Wire Gauze Oven Doors makes it so much easier than other stoves I have been used to, and I have so much more time to make everything just right. Just look at that roll! I never have bad luck with breed, biscuits or cake, now.

LADY OF THE HOUSE—Why, how do you explain it?

SERVANT—Well, I don't have to watch everything so close for fear it will burn. You know how careful you have to be with a baked custard, it is so apt to burn on top before it is baked through. The Charter Oak bakes it perfectly without any danger of burning. And then in roasting a turkey, I don't have to keep basting it every five minutes. It roasts beautifully brown without it, and without drying it up like the tight ovens do. And you know how crisp the biscuits are without being hard and tough. You always praised my biscuits, but if it wasn't for the wire gauze oven door I know they wouldn't be near as nice. I hope I'll never have to work anywhere again where they haven't got a Charter Oak Stove or Range.
